Basrop Man Drowns When Boat Capsizes

Heywood Pettis' Four Children Witness Tragedy

BASTROP (Special)—A 40-year-old Basrop man, Heywood Pettis, drowned early last night in Bayou Bartholomew while his four children, ages 10 to 16, stood by on the bank, helpless witnesses to the scene.

The incident occurred about a mile down stream from the Van Avenue bridge over Bayou Bartholomew. The bridge is approximately a mile and a half from the Basrop city limits.

Pettis, who bought a boat and motor two weeks ago and was trying it out, had taken the four children for a ride. When night approached, he took the three boys and one girl ashore, then took the boat out alone for the one last spin which cost him his life.

According to Howard Aulds, who was riding nearby in another boat, the Pettis boat accidentally capsized when Pettis veered too sharply into a turn. Pettis was thrown into the water, and Aulds stated that when he pulled his boat alongside Pettis to help him from the water, Pettis told him to catch the boat which was then running in circles in the Bayou and that he, Pettis, would be all right until he returned.

Started For Boat

Aulds said he then started for the other boat, and Pettis began to swim for a small bush or tree that was floating nearby in the Bayou. Pettis swam several feet, cried out once for help, then went under. He never came to the surface again.

Two Basrop youths, David and Billy Anderson, who had witnessed the scene from the bank, ran to a nearby farmhouse and got a boat. The two boys then tied a pole to a garden rake and pulled Pettis out in less than 15 minutes after he had gone under. Morehouse Sheriff's Officers, Basrop City Police, and members of the Basrop Fire Department worked to revive Pettis with a pullmotor, but after approximately 30 minutes, Parish Coroner Dr. John Michaud, pronounced him dead.

Pettis was a resident of 609 Higman St. in Basrop, and an employee of the Commercial Solvents Corporation in Sterling.

He is survived by his widow, the former Lucille Hughes, and five children: Bobby Wayne, 16; Betty Ann, 14; Ronald Gene, 10; Jerry, 11; and Ruby Lee, 14.

Last night funeral arrangements were incomplete.

King's Appeal Is Tossed Out For 2nd Time

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The Louisiana Civil Service Commission Friday tossed out for a second time the appeal of Alva A. King, who charged politics caused him to be fired as state driver's license chief.

In a 3-1 decision, the commission ruled King's "derelictions expressed in the letter of dismissal... are again deemed to be sufficiently detrimental to the efficiency of the state service as to justify the action of the appointing agency in dismissing him."

King was fired from his job at the Baton Rouge headquarters of the State Department of Public Safety in March, 1957.

On May 24, 1957, the commission upheld charges of insubordination and neglect of duty and said if the reasons for firing were sufficient political influence didn't matter.

The State Supreme Court ordered another hearing in the case, directing the civil service commission to consider the charges of political influence.

Jet Crashes In Florida, Burns

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A supersonic F105 Thunderchief crashed and burned near Fort Walton Beach shortly after noon Friday. Witnesses said the plane barely missed a large trailer camp and crashed in a field on the edge of the Eglin Air Force reservation.

Alan Patrick, manager of a service station near the scene, said the pilot parachuted and apparently escaped with minor injuries. The pilot was picked up by a helicopter and taken to the Eglin base hospital.

The blazing plane set off a raging woods fire. The ship crashed an estimated two miles north of downtown Fort Walton Beach.

REBELLION SMASHED

Colombia Rebels Kidnap 5 Highups

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A presidential candidate and four members of Colombia's ruling five-man military junta were kidnapped Friday in a vain effort to seize the government.

The bold move, led by an army colonel, began at 4 a. m. Seven hours later all those kidnapped had been released and the rebellion smashed.

The uprising came two days before Colombia is scheduled to elect its first constitutional president in 2 decades. Those seized included ex-President Alberto Lleras Camargo, the front running candidate.

Leads Revolt

Authorities said Col. Hernando Forero led the revolt. Taking part were soldiers of the military police and some national police and regular troops.

The rebels seized their victims at their homes. They dynamited houses after carrying away the officials.

The junta members abducted and held in the Caldas Battalion barracks were Maj. Gen. Gabriel Paris, junta president, Maj. Gen. Deogracias Fonseca, Brig. Gen. Rafael Navas Pardo and Brig. Gen. Luis Ordonez.

Rear Adm. Ruben Piedrahita, the fifth member of the junta, managed to escape from his home. He rushed to the presidential palace and alerted loyal officials.

Lleras escaped in the confusion that resulted when his captors ran into a loyal army patrol near the presidential palace.

Cold May Night

LONDON (AP)—The coldest temperature ever recorded on Earth was reported by the Russians Friday night from Antarctica. Moscow radio said it was 106.75 below zero fahrenheit.

The record reading was taken by the Sovietkaya station of the Soviet antarctic expedition's observatory of Mirny.

NATIONAL PLANNING ASSN.

Tax Cut, Increase In Spending Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Calling for bold action to meet the recession, the head of the National Planning Assn. Friday urged a four-billion-dollar increase in government spending and a tax reduction of seven to eight billion dollars.

"In this situation I think it is more prudent to err on the side of acting too boldly than too timidly," said H. Christian Sonne, NPA board chairman.

He advanced his proposals at a hearing of the House Banking Committee, which is considering legislation to relieve unemployment.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California predicted the Senate will pass an administration-backed bill to extend the duration of unemployment relief payments by 50 per cent. The legislation sailed through the House Thursday after a broader-scaled Democratic measure was voted down.

Knowland, after a White House conference with President Eisenhower, told newsmen the President was very pleased by the House action.

The Senate Finance Committee is scheduled to start hearings on the legislation May 12.

Sonne told the House committee that NPA's program of tax reduction and government spending may be premature, but he said greater harm may result from action which may turn out to be inadequate, and he added: "Further action during this session of Congress cannot long be delayed."

It may be true that the problems of inflation have not yet been mastered, he said, but "It would, however, be defeatist if because of our fear that we will be unable to master the problems of possible future price rise, we decide to run the risk of prolonging mass unemployment and leaving productive capacity unutilized."

"Taking this risk is unjustified in any event," he said. "In a period of coexistence with a hostile rival system of economic, social and political organization it would be unforgivable."

Easing Seen In District's Water Crisis

A near-stabilization point was reached by Bayou Bartholomew near Basrop last night, curbing its rapid plunge which had begun for the second time Wednesday night.

Evacuated families from the area remained with friends and neighbors, and sandbagging operations continued last night at Harold's Bridge near Bonita.

The Ouachita River near Ouachita City was continuing its surge last night, but no evacuees were reported. Authorities said only a few families live in the danger area and that they are in houses built up on stilts. "The waters would have to go still higher before these families would be in real danger," officials reported.

Bayou D'Arbonne and Bayou D'Outre, both near Farmerville, are no longer threatening the area, and Corney Lake Bayou in Claiborne Parish has also curtailed its rampage.

Twin Cities

In the Twin Cities, residents of the Booker T. Washington addition in Monroe were returning to their homes yesterday, after moving out when water accumulated in that low-lying area.

Persons living between the Ouachita River and the levee were evacuating yesterday, as the river continued its upward trend. The reading last night was 39.7 feet, with 40 feet considered flood stage. Engineers yesterday predicted a 45-foot reading by tomorrow or Monday, with a 47-foot level by about May 21, as tributaries above Monroe continue to pour overflows into the stream.

West Monroe is in "good shape," unless excessive downpours begin again, Mayor J. Alan Norris said last night.

Norris reported that one of the two pumping stations was still working yesterday, but that the other had been cut off. The pumps boosted out about five feet.

Twisters Stab Texas; Threat Of Flood Hangs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Twisters stabbed down from thunderclouds over Texas Friday while soaking rains raised flood threats in the Southern Plains and Lower Mississippi Valley.

Tornadoes caused damage at LaCoste near San Antonio in southeastern Texas, and in the Pecos area in the western part of the state.

From 20 to 30 houses were reported destroyed at LaCoste but there were no deaths or injuries. Other twisters were confirmed in the area.

Flash Floods

Waters from flash floods poured over parts of Oklahoma and northern Texas.

Durant, Okla., was doused with seven inches of rain and flooding forced the evacuation of 400 persons. A motorist whose car was washed from a highway was missing. The waters receded rapidly.

In North Texas, a 3.5 inch downpour sent the Pecan and Elm creeks rampaging over an area near Gainsville. Flood waters from continuing rains poured down the Sabine, Trinity, Cypress and other streams in east and north-central Texas.

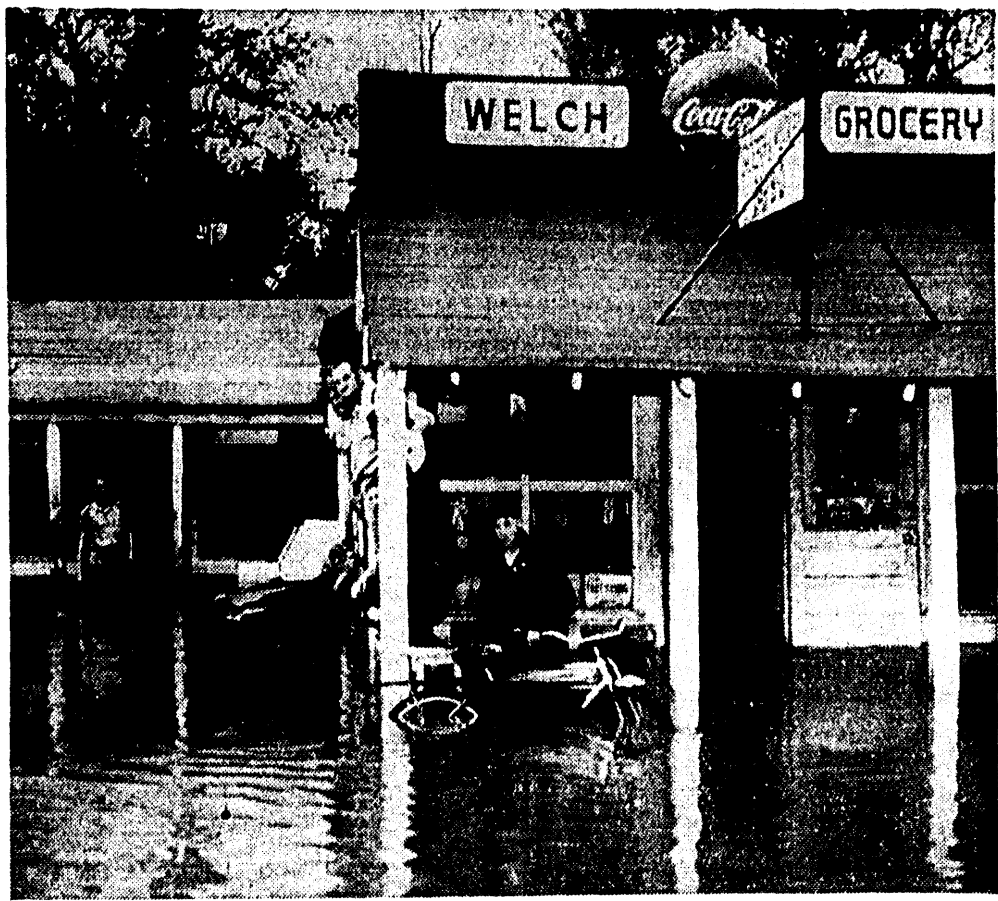

Parts of Arkansas reported up to six inches of rain. Record high water stages were recorded in parts of northwest Louisiana and in Mississippi.

Air Force To Beef Up Planes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force disclosed Friday it will beef up its approximately 1,400 B47 bombers as the result of an accident which showed structural weakness when the high altitude aircraft were used for low-level attack operations.

The work will require several months, but a spokesman said it will not affect the deterrent capability of the medium bomber fleet. The B47s are part of the Strategic Air Command.

The changes will be made at the Tulsa, Okla., plant of Douglas Aircraft and the Marietta, Ga., plant of the Lockheed Co.

Foes Of Rate Hike Vote To Hire Lawyer

In a spirited meeting last night, about 100 residents affected by the tripled water rates instituted by the Monroe Utilities Commission voted to retain an attorney to battle what they termed "the outrageously high rates."

J. W. Howell, representing the residents affected by the move, told the group that he had met with French L. Smith, chairman of the Utilities Commission, and that Smith told him the city was losing a lot of money by providing that area with water while not selling them electricity.

Residents affected live in the section just outside the northeast corporate limits of Monroe, east and west of U.S. Highway 80.

Some Exempt

It was pointed out by Arthur Prophet, assistant to Public Service Commissioner John McKeithen, that residents who cannot use the city electricity because of lack of service connections, and who thus must use Louisiana Power and Light Co. service, are exempt from paying the city's increased water rates.

However, those who could use city electricity if they chose are the ones being affected by higher city water rates.

Howell said the city "thinks we are just a bunch of knuckle-heads out here, and wouldn't have sense enough to fight for our rights."

Prophet, speaking for McKeithen's office, attempted to explain to the group that the constitution of the State of Louisiana provides that the public service commission has no authority over the municipal city light and water service. "Thirty-one cities in Louisiana..."

2 Planes Run Into Trouble

NEW YORK (AP)—A Miami-New York airliner overshot a runway at Newark airport Friday. And at Idlewild, a big transatlantic plane landed safely with one of its eight wheels missing. There were no injuries on either plane.

The four-engine Eastern Air Lines plane with 47 persons aboard came into Newark on instruments during a fog. It ended up in a sandlot about 300 feet off the end of a 7,000-foot runway.

"We just ran out of runway," a crew member explained.

Landing wheels on the plane were ripped off and one engine caught fire. But the fire was quickly doused and the passengers climbed out of the rear door with no show of panic.

In the Idlewild incident, most of the 74 persons aboard a four-engine Israel El-Al plane were unaware one of its wheels was missing.

Capt. Zvi Tohar canted the big ship slightly to the right to lighten the weight on the missing wheel side as he set it down to a perfect landing.

BELOW FULTON, ARK.

Flood Warnings Revised Upward

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains on the main stem of the Red River caused the Weather Bureau to revise upward its flood warnings for the river below Fulton, Ark.

The new forecasts compared closely with stages recorded last year when the river left its banks and flooded a large area south of Shreveport.

At the same time, the weather bureau indicated the area may be in for another two days of rain.

Today's forecast said heavy rains on the Red at and above Fulton, Ark., required the revision upward of predicted river stages.

Reach Shreveport May 7

The river is expected to reach 29-30 feet at Spring Bank, Ark., around May 6, 32-33 feet, at Shreveport around May 7, 37-37 feet at Coushatta, La., around May 9, 40 feet at Grand Ecure, La., around May 10, and 40 feet at Alexandria, La., around May 12.

Flood stage at Alexandria is 32 feet.

"These are tentative crests," the weather bureau said, because rain continues upriver.

Last May, during bad flooding to the South, the Red crested here at 33.9, with flood stage at 30 feet, and at Coushatta it reached 37.7 feet.

Earlier Bulletin

An earlier bulletin from the weather bureau today said the highest water stages on record were reported on the Bodcau-Dorcheat bayou system in northwestern Louisiana.

The gauge near Minden on the Dorcheat was at 24.9 feet, two feet above flood stage.

Special Urging

But Howard urged Monroe residents to take "special pain in cleaning up after these heavy rains." The city will compete for Runway Run Out.

'Fear Will Continue', He Asserts

DURHAM, N. H. (AP) Secretary of State Dulles said Friday night Russia's veto of President Eisenhower's arctic inspection plan is frightening and tragic.

Dulles departed from the prepared text of a foreign policy speech to deplore the Soviet Union's veto of the plan in the U. N. Security Council earlier in the day.

"At the choice of the Soviet Union," Dulles said, "the fears and risk continue. They continue for one reason alone, and that is because the Soviet Union rejects international inspection against surprise attack."

"The significance of that frightening," Dulles declared.

The result is tragic. It means that at the will and choice of the Soviet Union we shall have to live on the edge of an abyss from which we could be rescued if only the Soviet Union did not insist upon tainting for itself the possibility of massive surprise attack."

Dulles said "we refuse to be cowed" and added: "We main willing to join in any defensible arrangement which will reduce the risk of surprise or dental attack or, on a fair trade arms basis."

He said rulers in the Khrushchev era have set five main goals in drive for world domination said it would be reckless to them to achieve any of the:

1. Urges Free Peoples

In a far-ranging foreign speech, Dulles urged free people everywhere to make "a sacrifice of effort" to keep it from:

1. Permanent domination of Eastern European nations.

2. Continuing the partition of Germany on unliking the conditions forcing it in Communist camp.

3. Dismantling American backed defense alliances such as the 15-nation Atlantic Pact.

4. Achieving diplomatic recognition of Red China by the United Nations.

Segregationist Negro Professor Reports Firing

ALCORN, Miss. (AP)—A Negro college professor whose pro-segregation newspaper articles nearly closed Alcorn A&M (Negro) College last year said Friday he has been dismissed as a sacrificial offering to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

History Prof. Clennon King said in a statement: "No reasons are given because this dismissal had already been pronounced verbally one year ago when someone decided that I be made Mississippi's sacrificial offering to the NAACP."

"This formal and open dismissal has been cowardly held in abeyance in order that those who are interested in what I stand for would forget why I am finally dismissed."

King said college president J. D. Boyd wrote him Thursday "to inform you that your contract will not be renewed at the end of the 1957-58 school term. You are free to leave the campus at any time you wish."

They will deal with capital outlay for Louisiana Tech, Grambling College and the tuberculosis hospital at Ruston. He also will ask for funds for the various fairs and festivals of Lincoln, including the Louisiana Peach Festival.

In addition, Napper will introduce a bill requesting the creation of a commission composed of members representing adjacent parishes to administer a 417-acre plot in Lincoln which was used for a German prison camp during World War II.

The land was granted to the state by the federal government, Napper said the proposed commission would use it for industrial development purposes.

Students In Phone Firm Positions

Six Monroe and West Monroe teen-agers recently proved there's a wealth of business sense behind the so-called "rock-and-roll-generation" when they took over the management of the Monroe office of the Southern Bell Telephone Company as part of the first "Telephone Management Day" ever sponsored by Southern Bell in Louisiana.

Telephone Management Day is to be an annual event in Monroe and is designed to give students a better understanding of the telephone industry and the opportunity to "administer the principles that are so vital to the successful operation of a business."

Earlier in the month, faculty members at Ouachita Parish, St. Matthews, and West Monroe High Schools selected their outstanding boy and girl to represent the school in the telephone company program.

Those chosen included: Shirley Crow and Larry McDonald, Ouachita; Jimmy Schroeder and Jeanette Fried, St. Matthews; and Martha McCormick and Donald Skipper of West Monroe.

Went On Tour

Aside from handling the immediate problems of the departments to which they were assigned, the students were also taken on a tour of the company's central office where they viewed the television monitors, telephone equipment, and frame rooms.

Highlight of the day was a luncheon at the Rendezvous restaurant where the students heard Superintendent of Education Shelby M. Jackson speaking by telephone in a Direct Distance Dialing demonstration from Baton Rouge.

Foes Of Rate Hike Vote To Hire Lawyer

Prophet Heckled

In trying to point out that McKelthen is not authorized to step into the matter in any way, Prophet was continually heckled by the rate crowd. One elderly man, unidentified, attempted to take over the stage and disrupt the business at hand.

Prophet said that although McKelthen is not able, by law, to help the group officially, he will be glad to help personally. Prophet told the gathering that when the city took over the water service from a private concern, the city promised to increase the size of the pipes and take care of the water lines, but that rates were not mentioned.

Louisiana Power and Light has offered its assistance in the battle, after an attorney is hired, it was brought out last night. Officers were elected by the residents and were authorized to hire an attorney.

Donald E. Hicks was elected chairman of the group, with Leslie Thompson as vice chairman. Mrs. Mildred McArthur was named recording secretary, and Reid Hefflin will serve as financial secretary. Hefflin will also head the publicity committee, with Lloyd Giddings named chairman of the information committee.

Next Meeting

The next gathering will be held as soon as the attorney is retained and is able to meet with the group, officers said.

Action by the group was initiated when notices were sent by the Utilities Commission to the effect that rates for water supplied by the city through the Monroe Utilities Commission to non-electric power customers serviced through meters outside the city limits would be rescheduled. The new schedule is to go into force with the next meter reading, about next Monday.

Under the new schedule, the rates for those not subscribing to the city power service, where that power is provided, will be a minimum of $7.50 for the first 1,000 gallons, and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons for all water in excess of the first 1,000. The minimum bill would thus be $7.50 per month.

Current Rate

Those using both city power and city water will still be billed under the current rate of $2.50 for the first 1,000 gallons and 35 cents for each additional thousand gallons.

About 250 residents have been affected by the move.

City authorities say that the provision of water to these areas outside the city limits who do not subscribe to the city electric service is "an accommodation service only," and that as such it is a money-losing proposition unless the sale of city-produced electric power in those areas compensates for the loss.

Utilities Commission spokesmen said that city taxpayers' money

The Sarepta gauge of 25 feet of yesterday afternoon on the Bodcau, the bureau said, also was a record and the crest had not passed.

Lake Bistineau rose about two feet in a 24-hour period ending

Caddo Lake Northwest of Shreveport, continued to rise. The Libermann gauge showed 181.4 feet, two feet higher than last year, and the weather bureau said a crest of 181.5 feet was indicated for Saturday or Sunday at the Mooringsport dam gauge.

citizens, Napper announced plans for introducing several bills. He explained, however, that he would work out the details of much of his legislation after he gets to Baton Rouge.

They will deal with capital outlay for Louisiana Tech, Grambling College and the tuberculosis hospital at Ruston. He also will ask for funds for the various fairs and festivals of Lincoln, including the Louisiana Peach Festival.

In addition, Napper will introduce a bill requesting the creation of a commission composed of members representing adjacent parishes to administer a 417-acre plot in Lincoln which was used for a German prison camp during World War II.

The land was granted to the state by the federal government. Napper said the proposed commission would use it for industrial development purposes.

"There will be several other bills which I will work on after conferring with my colleagues," he remarked.

Students In Phone Firm Positions

Six Monroe and West Monroe teen-agers recently proved there's a wealth of business sense behind the so-called "rock-and-roll-generation" when they took over the management of the Monroe office of the Southern Bell Telephone Company as part of the first "Telephone Management Day" ever sponsored by Southern Bell in Louisiana.

Telephone Management Day is to be an annual event in Monroe and is designed to give students a better understanding of the telephone industry and the opportunity to "administer the principles that are so vital to the successful operation of a business."

Earlier in the month, faculty members at Ouachita Parish, St. Matthews, and West Monroe High Schools selected their outstanding boy and girl to represent the school in the telephone company program.

Those chosen included: Shirley Crow and Larry McDonald, Ouachita; Jimmy Schroeder and Jeanette Fried, St. Matthews, and Martha McCormick and Donald Skipper of West Monroe.

Went On Tour

Aside from handling the immediate problems of the departments to which they were assigned, the students were also taken on a tour of the company's central office where they viewed the television monitors, telephone equipment, and frame rooms.

Highlight of the day was a luncheon at the Rendezvous restaurant where the students heard Superintendent of Education Shelby M. Jackson speaking by telephone in a Direct Distance Dialing demonstration from Baton Rouge.

City Judged As Cleanest In District

the North Louisiana title the first week in June.

Howard said the rains, which began falling here Sunday and continued through late Thursday, had caused "much ill effect on the looks of our city."

"If we all get out now and clean up, the city will stand a good chance of winning when the judging team arrives the first week of June," Howard stated.

He explained that the city will stage a "determined drive" to win the state championship. A judging team toured Monroe and West Monroe several days ago.

At Lake Charles, Mrs. Granberry said further judging during the first week of June will determine the north and south Louisiana winners.

Decision Time

The state winner will be named during the second week of June. Winners by district and number of points scored out of a possible 100 were:

South — District 1, New Orleans, 91; district 2, Metairie, 95; district 3, Franklin, 95; district 6, Baton Rouge, 93; district 7, Welsh, 95.

North — District 4, Vivian, 95; district 5, Monroe, 85; district 8, Alexandria, 90.

"In view of what the other cities scored in the first round, we stand room for improvement," Howard stated. He urged local residents to "strive together" for the title.

Foes Of Rate Hike Vote To Hire Lawyer

isiana have this same problem now," Prophet said.

Prophet Heckled

In trying to point out that McKeithen is not authorized to step into the matter in any way, Prophet was continually heckled by the irate crowd. One elderly man, unidentified, attempted to take over the stage and disrupt the business at hand.

Prophet said that although McKeithen is not able, by law, to help the group officially, he will be glad to help personally. Prophet told the gathering that when the city took over the water service from a private concern, the city promised to increase the size of the pipes and take care of the water lines, but that rates were not mentioned.

Louisiana Power and Light has offered its assistance in the battle, after an attorney is hired, it was brought out last night. Officers were elected by the residents and were authorized to hire an attorney.

Donald E. Hicks was elected chairman of the group, with Leslie Thompson as vice chairman. Mrs. Mildred McArthur was named recording secretary, and Reid Heflin will serve as financial secretary. Heflin will also head the publicity committee, with Lloyd Giddings named chairman of the information committee.

Next Meeting

The next gathering will be held as soon as the attorney is retained and is able to meet with the group, officers said.

Action by the group was initiated when notices were sent by the Utilities Commission to the effect that rates for water supplied by the city through the Monroe Utilities Commission to non-electric power customers serviced through meters outside the city limits would be rescheduled. The new schedule is to go into force with the next meter reading, about next Monday.

Under the new schedule, the rates for those not subscribing to the city power service, where that power is provided, will be a minimum of $7.50 for the first 1,000 gallons, and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons for all water in excess of the first 1,000. The minimum bill would thus be $7.50 per month.

Current Rate

Those using both city power and city water will still be billed under the current rate of $2.50 for the first 1,000 gallons and 35 cents for each additional thousand gallons.

About 250 residents have been affected by the move.

City authorities say that the provision of water to these areas outside the city limits who do not subscribe to the city electric service is "an accommodation service only," and that as such it is a money-losing proposition unless the sale of city-produced electric power in those areas compensates for the loss.

Utilities Commission spokesmen said that city taxpayers' money

THEY SEE GHOSTS

Red Persistence Causes Tensions

By J. M. Roberts
AP News Analyst

One of the causes of tension in the world today is the Kremlin's persistence in professing to see ghosts where it knows there are none.

The Soviet leaders have been talking for years about easing tensions, but they never let anything happen to change their posture of threat.

The United States is offering to submit its Arctic operations to international inspection, if the Russians will do the same. The Red reply is that the United States really wants military intelligence on what the Soviets are doing.

That is true in a way. The United States has also offered to let the Russians see what it is doing, not only in the Arctic but in the whole United States. The object is to assure both sides that there is no threat of surprise attack, if that is true, and thereby clear the atmosphere for further steps toward disarmament.

When the Reds refuse, it increases the fear that they wish to keep their ability for surprise attack if they fail in their grandiose brag to conquer the world through economics and ideology.

There is little doubt that the Soviet military threat, in addition to having a hard core of meaning of its own, is cherished as a part of the economic and ideological war.

The Soviet government, not being responsible to its people after the fashion of the democracies, can devote as much of the national income and national resources to its military posture as it wishes. Merely by doing so it forces the democracies to keep pace, producing discontent and hoping to undermine their economies.

Secret Atom Equipment To Be Unveiled

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The United States will unveil hitherto secret nuclear reactor equipment for the first time at the second World Atoms-for-Peace Conference opening Sept. 1.

Several full-size nuclear reactors will be in the 30,000-square-foot American exhibit. The big exhibition building is going up now on the lawns of the Palace of Nations, European headquarters for the United Nations.

At the first atoms-for-peace conference here in 1955, the United States installed a working reactor. Many visitors expressed disappointment that the machine did not produce any visibly functioning energy, such as electric light.

American engineers are reported working on plans to make the energy produced by their reactors at the 1958 exhibit clearly apparent to all.

Secrecy still surrounds many details of the two-million-dollar exhibit.

About 10,000 square feet of the exhibition building have been reserved for the Russians but no information has leaked out on what they will show.

Other countries reserving space are Canada, France, Great Britain, Italy, West Germany, Austria, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Belgium, Spain, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, India, Japan, South Africa, Argentina and Venezuela.

The exhibits are intended primarily for the 5,000 scientists and engineers from 60 nations attending the two-week conference.

Head Of LMA Tourist Group Is Announced

ALEXANDRIA (Special)—Mayor Jerome Domengeaux of Lafayette has been named head of the Louisiana Municipal Association's Tourist Committee, according to Mayor W. George Bowdon, Jr. of Alexandria, LMA president. Domengeaux will succeed Mayor Edgar Coco of Marksville.

In his new post, Domengeaux will have overall direction of the LMA's tourist inducement campaign, which was launched last fall. First step in the drive calls for publication of a 300-page travel guide, "Lovely Louisiana." The guide is only one phase of a comprehensive seven-point program, Domengeaux said.

"We expect Louisiana's tourist business to increase to a billion dollars a year, thereby becoming one of the biggest industries in the state," Domengeaux said. "This will be made possible by the organized efforts of Louisiana Municipal Association, which is the first municipal group in the history of the nation ever to organize a concerted tourist promotion campaign for a single state."

Domengeaux called for statewide support of the drive, adding that "our potential in the travel business is unsurpassed and needs only a determined effort to succeed."

A meeting of the Tourist Committee is planned within the next few weeks to discuss specific details of the general program, Domengeaux said.

THEY SEE GHOSTS

Red Persistence Causes Tensions

By J. M. Roberts
AP News Analyst

One of the causes of tension in the world today is the Kremlin's persistence in professing to see ghosts where it knows there are none.

The Soviet leaders have been talking for years about easing tensions, but they never let anything happen to change their posture of threat.

The United States is offering to submit its Arctic operations to international inspection, if the Russians will do the same. The red reply is that the United States really wants military intelligence on what the Soviets are doing.

That is true in a way. The United States has also offered to let the Russians see what it is doing, not only in the Arctic but in the whole United States. The object is to assure both sides that there is no threat of surprise attack, if that is true, and thereby clear the atmosphere for further steps toward disarmament.

When the Reds refuse, it increases the fear that they wish to keep their ability for surprise attack if they fail in their grandiose brag to conquer the world through economics and ideology.

There is little doubt that the Soviet military threat, in addition to having a hard core of meaning of its own, is cherished as a part of the economic and ideological war.

The Soviet government, not being responsible to its people after the fashion of the democracies, can devote as much of the national income and national resources to its military posture as it wishes. Merely by doing so it forces the democracies to keep pace, producing discontent and hoping to undermine their economies.

Secret Atom Equipment To Be Unveiled

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The United States will unveil hitherto secret nuclear reactor equipment for the first time at the second World Atoms-for-Peace Conference opening Sept. 1.

Several full-size nuclear reactors will be in the 30,000-square-foot American exhibit. The big exhibition building is going up now on the lawns of the Palace of Nations, European headquarters for the United Nations.

At the first atoms-for-peace conference here in 1955, the United States installed a working reactor. Many visitors expressed disappointment that the machine did not produce any visibly functioning energy, such as electric light.

American engineers are reported working on plans to make the energy produced by their reactors at the 1958 exhibit clearly apparent to all.

Secrecy still surrounds many details of the two-million-dollar exhibit.

About 10,000 square feet of the exhibition building have been reserved for the Russians but no information has leaked out on what they will show.

Other countries reserving space are Canada, France, Great Britain, Italy, West Germany, Austria, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Belgium, Spain, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, India, Japan, South Africa, Argentina and Venezuela.

The exhibits are intended primarily for the 5,000 scientists and engineers from 60 nations attending the two-week conference.

Head Of LMA Tourist Group Is Announced

ALEXANDRIA (Special)—Mayor Jerome Domengeaux of Lafayette has been named head of the Louisiana Municipal Association's Tourist Committee, according to Mayor W. George Bowdon, Jr. of Alexandria, LMA president. Domengeaux will succeed Mayor Edgar Coco of Marksville.

In his new post, Domengeaux will have overall direction of the LMA's tourist inducement campaign, which was launched last fall. First step in the drive calls for publication of a 300-page travel guide, "Lovely Louisiana." The guide is only one phase of a comprehensive seven-point program, Domengeaux said.

"We expect Louisiana's tourist business to increase to a billion dollars a year, thereby becoming one of the biggest industries in the state," Domengeaux said. "This will be made possible by the organized efforts of Louisiana Municipal Association, which is the first municipal group in the history of the nation ever to organize a concerted tourist promotion campaign for a single state."

Domengeaux called for statewide support of the drive, adding that "our potential in the travel business is unsurpassed and needs only a determined effort to succeed."

A meeting of the Tourist Committee is planned within the next few weeks to discuss specific details of the general program, Domengeaux said.

A statement by Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles that the United States would not object to Soviet reconnaissance or "spying" over this country from a Russian military satellite was called surprising but it seems logical enough. Any idea that this country or any other country controls space out beyond the world's atmosphere, even though it might be termed above that country, is ridiculous.

One of the chief reasons for this is that it would be impossible to fix with any degree of accuracy the exact boundaries to which any country might lay claim. It is difficult enough to determine exactly when an ordinary airplane, traveling fairly low in the earth's atmosphere, crosses a national boundary. There have been many disputes in which the fliers contended they had not crossed the line and in which the country allegedly offended claimed a crossing had been made.

When a satellite is in outer space it might well be presumed to be over the entire world, as the sun is over the whole earth, and shines on whatever portion of the earth happens to be turned toward it. The same is true of the moon. There is every reason to believe that occupants of a satellite far out in space could look down on many countries at once and might be able to see nearly half of the world in the same moment. As the world revolved they would see still more of it.

The satellites already sent up into space have shown that pin-pointing them above any country is an impossibility. While the course of their orbit can be determined to a considerable degree, they still seem to revolve around the earth, one way or another, as the earth turns.

The amazing thing is that scientists now believe small objects on the earth may be perceived from outer space. They think that eventually larger objects on the earth will be discernible from the moon. As Deputy Secretary Quarles says, it would be about as logical to try to limit observation from the moon as to attempt to limit it from a satellite, since both are far enough out to be entirely separated from the earth's atmosphere and the earth's motion.

From this, we must reach the conclusion that the age of satellite has placed the earth in a glass-house classification. Before long, the surface actions of any nation can be viewed by satellite representatives of any other nation.

Deputy Secretary Quarles indicated his belief that the Russians could not object to U.S. reconnaissance by satellite any more than this country could object to theirs.

Russia might object in a new attempt to dominate the world but its objections would be futile. If this country were to bow to such a decree as that it might as well grant Russia an emblem signifying that nation's right to control not only the world but outer space. This country has no intention of making a concession in either of these directions.

It will not be long before nations wishing to maintain secret military installations will be compelled to keep them underground or inside buildings. Then, except for inside equipment, the world will automatically have the right of inspection which has been sought by the United States in an attempt at arms limitations.

This would not hurt the United States in any way. There is little reason to believe that the United States possesses any important secrets which could be observed even by planes flying over this country. Anything that open is already known to any nation which chooses to have spies in this country.

Russia, realizing as well as does any other country, the true situation regarding satellites, is not likely to make more than a token protest against satellite reconnaissance. If it should do so, it would receive no support except from the nations it controls.

Gasoline Tax Hike

A "hands-off" policy toward any proposal to raise state gasoline taxes which might be made at the coming session of the Louisiana legislature has been announced by the board of directors of the Louisiana Service Station Association. The board announced that it would neither support nor oppose such a proposal.

The present policy of the association is contrary to that adopted by it six years ago. At that time it supported legislation which cut the state's gasoline levy by two cents a gallon.

In its recent statement the service station board charged that because of wholesale gasoline price boosts in 1952, "the savings derived from the tax reduction and the loss of revenue to the state was not passed on to the motoring public, as intended, but reverted to the major oil companies."

Service station operators had expected to benefit somewhat from the tax reduction, figuring that with a lowered price the motoring public would buy more gallons of gasoline. At the same rate of profit per gallons, the service station men would have had greater net returns on the increased sales. Instead, however, the operators charged, increased wholesale prices off-set the tax cut.

Some service station operators have indicated that the so-called "price war" in gasoline sales is not really a war among the major companies but, instead, is an agreement among them for the purpose of lowering the amount of profit received by the operators. Operators were asked to take part of the decrease in profits incurred in the "war." If they took a decrease of two cents a gallon in their margin of profit and if the lowered allowance remained in effect long enough, they figured, it might become the established amount of profit and even if prices should be subsequently raised the number of cents of profit allowed the operators might not be raised.

These alleged manipulations of prices and profits have dampened the enthusiasm of the operators for any reduction in taxes. Nor do they see how they or the public could benefit by a tax hike.

Annihilation War Would Spare Backward Nations

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The humankind is supposed to renew itself completely every seven years, and maybe the human civilization of this planet runs a cycle too. I have in mind a book, "The Challenge of Man's Future," which I borrowed from Senator Stuart Symington's office after listening to the senator cross-question its author, Dr. Harrison Brown of Cal Tech. There is a marked passage in the book's preface where, it appears to me, the thesis is set forth:

"For the fifth of the world's population that lives in regions of machine culture, it is a period of unprecedented abundance. . . . However . . . a cosmic gamble, looking at it from afar, would in all likelihood give substantial odds . . . that it would soon disappear, never again to come into existence."

Senator Symington, speaking his own language as a former industrialist, was comparing labor-management disputes with those between communism and the west. You talk and talk, he said, then:

"Suddenly the sun comes up. The senator feels that something good can arise from keeping up the negotiations on world disarmament, but he also feels that we must negotiate intelligently. The Symington plan would run something as follows:

By all means go ahead with the nuclear tests already planned. It would be madness to permit Russia to propagandize us into following her policy, as so many hidden Communists and their dupes are urging. The fall-out of stron-

A New Type Of Manager

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

United States Could Be Isolated Involuntarily

In a significant interview with "Le Figaro," Khrushchev, as usual, made many side statements of far-reaching significance. We, Americans, tend to over-simplify the Russians and their development until we are caught short by some stride that they have taken.

In the "Le Figaro" interview, Khrushchev raises the question of us are willing to recognize the USSR in the conditions of capitalist encirclement, Khrushchev called the interviewer's attention to the circumstance that at the present time the very concept of "capitalist encirclement" needs serious qualifications. Now it is hard to tell, Khrushchev said, who encircles whom—is it the capitalist countries that encircle the socialist countries or vice versa? The socialist countries are inhabited by 1 billion people out of the 2.5 billion total world population; with the establishment of the world system of socialism the world situation has changed radically and not in favor of capitalism. Consequently capitalist encirclement in the old meaning of this word is out of the question."

The most recent techniques employed by Soviet Russia are economic and might be regarded as capitalistic. They have to do with the movement of goods, the use of gold as a common denominator of currency and the substitution of Russian for American economic and military aid to countries which cannot stand on their own. The most recent economic invasion by Soviet Russia is into Latin America.

From the standpoint of the United States the most dangerous operations of Soviet Russia are in Brazil and Chile. Brazil is suffering economically from an excessive coffee crop, dependent upon an American market which is appalled at the high and even unreasonable cost of the commodity. By a pulverizing method, the various "instant" brands have come into existence, have been popularized and are in wide use. Economically, the importance of the "instant" coffees is that it is possible to get more cups of coffee out of a pound this way than by cooking ground beans.

Be all this as it may, the United States cannot absorb all the coffee that Brazil wishes to send to this country or at the prices that Brazil wishes to charge. Therefore, the Russians, who do not drink much coffee, preferring tea, knock out in glasses, are ready to buy the Brazilian surplus on a barter deal. This would give Russia a foot in the door, as it were, of the most Catholic country of Latin America.

Obviously, the Russians cannot consume this surplus coffee crop, but would ultimately dump it either among coffee-drinking satellites such as the East Germans, the Czechs or the Hungarians or would dribble it into the world market slowly enough not to ruin the price. The Russians can undoubtedly make a profit on this transaction.

Another deal involves Chile copper. This has become a political issue in Chile. Chile is one of the world's greatest producers of copper. On the other hand, the copper market in the United States has slumped, the price of copper is down and there is talk of putting a protective tariff on copper in this country.

These conditions seriously affect the economy of Chile and there is talk of Soviet Russia buying the Chilean copper production. The Socialist and Communist parties favor trading with Soviet Russia; those in power fear to injure Chile's relations with the United States.

When mice attack church organs, they usually nibble on the black keys but avoid the white ones. Please don't ask me why. Laboratory tests have shown dogs can carry their liquor better than people.

The Soviet Union, engaged in a race to outproduce America, last year turned out only 99,000 passenger cars for its 202 million people.

It was Kin Hubbard who observed: "The safest way to double your money is to fold it over once and put it in your pocket."

DR. CRANE SAYS

Hair Cannot Turn Gray Overnight

Dick brings up the question whether you can turn gray overnight. Be glad you live in a scientific age, for George Washington was beset with hundreds of such false notions. In fact, Washington was probably killed by the misconception that it was smart to bleed a patient with a fever. His doctor took out almost a quart of Washington's blood, then Washington died! CASE X-396: Dick M., aged 19, is a science major in college.

"Dr. Crane, can a person's hair turn white overnight?" he began.

"It doesn't seem possible to me, but I have heard many people swear that a sudden tragedy or some severe terror made their hair turn absolutely white within just one night. Is that malarky?"

Science or Malarky? Before answering Dick's query, may I remind you that in George Washington's day hundreds of similar unscientific notions were spread by word of mouth.

And very able men would solemnly swear to the truth of their weird tales, even though we know nowadays that their statements were falsehoods.

For modern science has punctured one delusion after another by the use of new facts and new scientific methods.

As regards this oft repeated story concerning hair turning white, let's view the medical facts.

After the hairs of our scalp protrude through the skin, they are dead. They have no feeling and obtain no nourishment, nor are they connected by any nerves to the brain. Nevertheless, barbers in my childhood used to singe the hair of patrons on the theory that the freshly cut ends would "bleed" and thus weaken the vitality of said hairs.

The human hair grows slowly—about an inch per month. So, even if it were possible for severe shock or terror to stop the pigmentation of the roots of the hairs, that change in color would not be evident in the external hair for a long time.

It would take months before any depigmentation in the hair roots would change our brown or black or red hair to snowy whiteness. The statement, therefore, that fear turns a person's hair white over night is pure malarky or buncombe.

However, a shampoo will often make a person's hair look many shades whiter, especially if he uses hair oil regularly or his hair is dirty.

Hair oils make one's hair appear much blacker. So any body who talks about a sudden change in color of his scalp hair must have had a long overdue shampoo or else have omitted his hair oil.

Deficiency Allments

Several ailments of mankind that appear toward middle age are not due to germs but to deficiencies of certain chemicals.

Gray hair, baldness, diabetes, cancer, and possibly multiple sclerosis and several other ailments are in this category.

At the present moment, modern medicine is vitally concerned with the possibility of delaying or even preventing such deficiency ailments by putting trace chemicals into salt or pills.

The widespread condition of goiter, even among men, was thus thwarted in 1924 by placing a trace of iodine in our table salt.

Lately, we have been able to eliminate about 65 per cent of dental decay in children by a similar trace of fluorine in drinking water.

Within this generation (before 2,000 A.D.) I think we'll likewise stop most cases of diabetes and cancer by supplementary feeding of trace chemicals in our foods.

The salt manufacturers have already tested the beneficial effects of trace chemical salt for livestock. It produces faster growth, less anemia, less sterility, and many other desirable effects.

We medics are prescribing a "shotgun" capsule of a dozen or more trace chemicals, plus a large number of vitamins, to fortify patients against deficiency ailments, and I think the results will be very helpful. Time will tell but the theory is logical.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Psychiatric Day Hospitals Open

Hospital care is expensive and many attempts are being made to reduce costs. The physical plant runs into money and so do food and wages. The guests who complain of their bill may not realize that there are twice as many employees as patients.

Different plans are being tried to overcome the problem. For example, there is no need for a patient who is recovering from surgery on an arm to pay for the same meticulous nursing care and attention required by the victim of pneumonia or bleeding peptic ulcer.

The ordinary hospital is designed for emergencies, diagnosis, and treatment of the acutely ill. It is not a health resort, reducing salon, nursing home, mental institution, or sanctuary for the chronically ill. But the distinction is not always clear.

Some hospitals are opening up units halfway between a hotel and a hospital for diagnosis and to care for individuals who are not too sick and do not need constant nursing and medical attention for the critically ill who require constant attention by highly trained teams of nurses and physicians. The recovery room is relatively well established for surgical patients.

Still other hospitals have opened up psychiatric facilities where the patient receives institutional care without the stigma of being in an institution. The latest in this field is the psychiatric day hospital.

Here the mentally disturbed person is given treatment to encourage readjustment through changes in attitude and emotional growth. He goes home to sleep in his own bed. This type of treatment is limited but the plan has many excellent features.

Reply No, but much depends upon what is meant by a gall bladder attack. Surgery seldom is recommended when a stone is being passed. But if the attack is caused by acute inflammation of the organ, some physicians recommend immediate surgery, to handle the problem in much the same way as they would acute appendicitis.

Service station operators had expected to benefit somewhat from the tax reduction, figuring that with a lowered price the motoring public would buy more gallons of gasoline. At the same rate of profit per gallons, the service station men would have had greater net returns on the increased sales. Instead, however, the operators charged, increased wholesale prices off-set the tax cut.

Some service station operators have indicated that the so-called "price war" in gasoline sales is not really a war among the major companies but, instead, is an agreement among them for the purpose of lowering the amount of profit received by the operators. Operators were asked to take part of the decrease in profits incurred in the "war." If they took a decrease of two cents a gallon in their margin of profit and if the lowered allowance remained in effect long enough, they figured, it might become the established amount of profit and even if prices should be subsequently raised the operators might not be raised.

These alleged manipulations of prices and profits have dampened the enthusiasm of the operators for any reduction in taxes. Nor do they see how they or the public could benefit by a tax hike.

Annihilation War Would Spare Backward Nations

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The human body is supposed to renew itself completely every seven years, and maybe the human civilization, too, has a cycle of renewal. I have in mind a book, "The Challenge of Man's Future," which I borrowed from Senator Stuart Symington's office after listening to the senator cross-question its author, Dr. Harrison Brown of Cal Tech. There is a marked passage in the book's preface where, it appears to me, the thesis is set forth:

"For the fifth of the world's population that lives in regions of machine culture, it is a period of unprecedented abundance. However . . . a cosmic gambler, looking at us from afar, would in all likelihood give substantial odds . . . that it would soon disappear, never again to come into existence."

Dr. Brown goes on for nearly 300 pages to show that an H-war would destroy the civilization built up and supported by machinery; but that it would spare the vast Afro-Asian areas of desert and jungle which would continue as a lean and hungry agrarian civilization. In other words, the human race would have swung the cycle — through ages of grass, stone, iron and machinery — back to earthy living once more. Mutation, not annihilation, would be the fate of man.

But man, at least Machine Age man, for whom Senator Symington is an affable and informed spokesman, does not wish it that way. The senator is only one of many of us who resist this pattern. The H-bomb may be new; but the struggle which surrounds it is old. This is the ancient battle of free will vs. predestination. It is the god-man vs. the beast-man. It is the teeth-gritting determination of the race to avoid termination of the race to avoid returning to its old homestead, the sod. And despite the tendency of humanity to ride the merry-go-round back to where we started, there is something in us that says — Be the boss!

Senator Symington, speaking in his own language as a former industrialist, was comparing labor-management disputes with those between communism and the west. You talk and talk, he said, then:

"Suddenly the sun comes up!"

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

United States Could Be Isolated Involuntarily

In a significant interview with "Le Figaro," Khrushchev, as usual, made many side statements of far-reaching significance. We, Americans, tend to over-simplify the Russians and their development until we are caught short by some stride that they have taken.

In the "Le Figaro" interview, of building Communism in the USSR in the conditions of capitalist encirclement, Khrushchev called the interviewer's attention to the circumstance that at the present time the very concept of "capitalist encirclement" needs serious qualifications. Now it is hard to tell, Khrushchev said, who encircles whom—is it the capitalist countries that encircle the socialist countries or vice versa? The socialist countries are inhabited by 1 billion people out of the 2.5 billion total world population; with the establishment of the world system of socialism the world situation has changed radically and not in favor of capitalism. Consequently capitalist encirclement in the old meaning of this word is out of the question.

Europe Is Called 'Dead Culturally'

NEW YORK (AP)—Europeans who like to say America has no culture get a quick debate from Beverly Merrill.

"Actually, Europe is dead culturally," she insists. "It is a great schoolhouse, but more is now happening culturally here. We are the new center of Western culture."

Miss Merrill, dark-eyed and attractive, can approach the subject with some perspective.

At 30 she is sole owner and manager of a phonograph recording firm which for the first time in history is recording in its entirety some of the great forgotten music of the Middle Ages. Her projected 10-album series of medieval melodies has aroused the praise of musicologists throughout the world.

No really scholarly job of recording music of this period had been attempted before Miss Merrill founded her firm.

"Today it is definitely long, long music," she said. "But merely because it is old. The tunes are still fresh and lovely."

"It is mainly religious music and some was composed to be performed in certain cathedrals or chapels."

One of her prizes is the first known English love song, "Bird on the Brier."

One of the stanzas reads:

tium 90 and cesium 137 particles are not nearly so damaging to the human race as communism is. It would be cowardice to save our genes and lose our souls.

Maintain preparedness, not just for a world war, but also for regional or tactical wars. To Symington this means that our army must be air - borne. The British humiliation at Suez in '56, says Symington, was epitomized by the British minister who said: "We were four days sailing time from Malta." Sailing time! Yet, today, the USA has competent airlift for only two battle groups, less than one division. Symington wants to see a building program for aerial troop carriers. He favors two Douglas planes, the C-133 of which we have a few, and the C-124 which is twice as commodious and of which we have none. He is also favorably impressed with the Martin Sea Mistress, a sea-plane prototype. With five divisions already in Europe, we need the capability of backing them up.

After the planned Pacific tests of nuclear weapons, and while attaining a readiness to fight big or small wars, we should always be willing to talk things over with the Russians. Symington thinks the administration makes a mistake in stipulating a cessation of nuclear production. Progress is an important product in itself. If we progressed to the point of halting further tests, and of exchanging inspectors to any significant degree, it would be a real gain in forestalling the doom of mutual destruction.

These are thoughts to ponder if we really do go to the Summit with the Russian leaders this year. First, an independence of policy; second, a posture of military readiness; finally, a willingness to talk and talk and talk, as Symington says, that — "Suddenly the sun comes up."

Life must be one big headache for many of us. Americans now consume 21 tons of aspirin daily. If a man 21 now marries a girl of 17, the chances are better than two out of five that both will survive for 50 years.

A sadist, according to The American Journal of Psychotherapy, is a man who keeps telling a hypochondriac how well he looks.

A pastor whose church was being repaired posted this sign outside: "Renovating going on inside. How about you?"

A survey by the Hotel Edison here showed the article most often left behind by male guests is a toothbrush.

A delegate at large can be defined as a guy who attends a convention without his wife.

From 1904 to 1950 the number of persons over 65 years of age quadrupled in America. But the number of those in this same bracket admitted to mental hospitals rose ninefold, a startling statistic summarizing one problem of the forgotten elderly.

If you are overly submissive to your wife, you have uxoriolitis. If your wife is overly submissive to you, she is a victim of maritosis, a much rarer disease in this country anyway.

When mice attack church organs, they usually nibble on the black keys but avoid the white ones. Please don't ask me why. Laboratory tests have shown dogs can carry their liquor better than people.

The Soviet Union, engaged in a race to outproduce America, last year turned out only 98,000 passenger cars for its 202 million people.

It was Kin Hubbard who observed: "The safest way to double your money is to fold it over once and put in your pocket."

DR. CRANE SAYS

Hair Cannot Turn Gray Overnight

Dick brings up the question whether you can turn gray overnight. Be glad you live in a scientific age, for George Washington was beset with hundreds of such false notions. In fact, Washington was probably killed by the misconception that it was smart to bleed a patient with a fever. His doctor took out almost a quart of Washington's blood — then Washington died!

CASE X-396: Dick M., aged 19, is a science major in college.

"Dr. Crane, can a person's hair turn white over night?" he began.

"It doesn't seem possible to me, but I have heard many people swear that a sudden tragedy or some severe terror made their hair turn absolutely white within just one night. Is that malarky?"

Science or Malarky

Before answering Dick's query, may I remind you that in George Washington's day hundreds of similar unscientific notions were spread by word of mouth.

And very able men would solemnly swear to the truth of their weird tales, even though we know nowadays that their statements were falsehoods.

For modern science has punctured one delusion after another by the use of new facts and new scientific methods.

As regards this oft repeated story concerning hair turning white, let's view the medical facts.

After the hairs of our scalp protrude through the skin, they are dead.

They have no feeling and obtain no nourishment, nor are they connected by any nerves to the brain.

Nevertheless, barbers in my childhood used to singe the hair of patrons on the theory that the freshly cut ends would "bleed" and thus weaken the vitality of said hairs.

The human hair grows slowly—about an inch per month. So, even if it were possible for severe shock or terror to stop the pigmentation of the roots of the hairs, that change in color would not be evident in the external hair for a long time.

It would take months before any depigmentation in the hair roots would change our brown or black or red hair to snowy whiteness. The statement, therefore, that fear turns a person's hair white over night is pure malarky or buncombe.

However, a shampoo will often make a person's hair look many shades whiter, especially if he uses hair oil regularly or his hair is dirty.

Hair oils make one's hair appear much blacker. So any body who talks about a sudden change in color of his scalp hair must have had a long overdue shampoo or else have omitted his hair oil.

Deficiency Ailments

Several ailments of mankind that appear toward middle age are not due to germs but to deficiencies of certain chemicals. Gray hair, baldness, diabetes, cancer, and possibly multiple sclerosis and several other ailments are in this category.

At the present moment, modern medicine is vitally concerned with the possibility of delaying or even preventing such deficiency ailments by putting trace chemicals into salt or pills.

The widespread condition of goiter, even among men, was thus thwarted in 1924 by placing a trace of iodine in our table salt. Lately, we have been able to eliminate about 65 per cent of dental decay in children by a similar trace of fluorine in drinking water.

Within this generation (before 2,000 A.D.) I think we'll likewise stop most cases of diabetes and cancer by supplementary feeding of trace chemicals in our foods.

The salt manufacturers have already tested the beneficial effects of trace chemical salt for livestock. It produces faster growth, less anemia, less sterility, and many other desirable effects.

We medics are prescribing a "shotgun" capsule of a dozen or more trace chemicals, plus a large number of vitamins, to fortify patients against deficiency ailments, and I think the results will be very helpful. Time will tell but the theory is logical.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.

Psychiatric Day Hospitals Open

Hospital care is expensive and many attempts are being made to reduce costs. The physical plant runs into money and so do food and wages. The guests who complain of their bill may not realize that there are twice as many employees as patients.

Different plans are being tried to overcome the problem. For example, there is no need for a patient who is recovering from surgery on an arm to pay for the same meticulous nursing care and attention required by the victim of pneumonia or bleeding peptic ulcer.

The ordinary hospital is designed for emergencies, diagnosis, and treatment of the acutely ill. It is not a health resort, reducing salons, nursing home, mental institution, or sanctuary for the chronically ill. But the distinction is not always clear.

Some hospitals are opening up units halfway between a hotel and a hospital for diagnosis and care for individuals who are not too sick and do not need constant nursing and medical attention for the critically ill who require constant attention by highly trained teams of nurses and physicians. The recovery room is relatively well established for surgical patients.

Still other hospitals have opened up psychiatric facilities where the patient receives institutional care without the stigma of being in an institution. The latest in this field is the psychiatric day hospital.

Here the mentally disturbed person is given treatment to encourage readjustment through changes in attitude and emotional growth. He goes home to sleep in his own bed. This type of treatment is limited but the plan has many excellent features.

Tomorrow: Sea, plane, or camel sickness.

SPECIALISTS AND ASSISTANTS

H. E. writes: After selecting a reputable and expensive eye specialist to be fitted for glasses, I found the refraction work delegated to an assistant — a young physician obviously getting experience. However, the specialist reviewed the findings. Please comment.

Reply

There is a limit on how much work one person can do. To give good service, a busy specialist may need the help of several assistants but the staff works as a team. The younger members are by no means novices in the field. They are full fledged specialists who have spent several years working in hospitals and clinics and seeing patients with eye diseases before being asked by the professor to come into his office to help him with his private practice. In the final analysis, the results are what count. Do you see better since being fitted with glasses?

GALL BLADDER BOUT

M. E. writes: Does a gall bladder attack call for immediate surgery?

Reply

No, but much depends upon what is meant by a gall bladder attack. Surgery seldom is recommended when a stone is being passed. But if the attack is caused by acute inflammation of the organ, some physicians recommend immediate surgery, and handle the problem in much the same way as they would acute appendicitis.

PRESSURE OR TOXINS

Mrs. D. J. writes: Why does pregnancy cause kidney disease in some women?

Reply

The answer depends upon the type of kidney involvement. There may be pressure on the bladder or the tubes that connect the bladder to the kidneys. Toxins incident to pregnancy also may affect the kidneys.

3 Juveniles Admit To 19 Theft Acts

Three white juvenile boys questioned here yesterday admitted at least 19 acts including theft, bogus check writing, and rifling machines of coins over the last two months, police revealed.

In disclosing the case Chief James C. Kelly Jr. said the boys, two aged 16, and one 14, were apprehended on tips from a local grocery where they had attempted to cash a $25 check and from another grocery where they had cashed a $25 check.

Juvenile authorities who questioned the youths disclosed that all three were admittedly connected with taking money from drink machines at Northeast State College about 10 times. The youths admitted like acts at Ouachita Grammar School, Friday's Used Car Lot, Baptist Student Center, at NLSC, and three Rose Oil Stations, authorities said.

The theft of about $20 from Sheppard's Grocery was also confessed, by the three, police said.

According to investigators, the youths admitted taking keys from the Baptist Student Center at NLSC, and used them to open several drink boxes. Police explained that drink boxes of the same type usually have the same type locks. The keys were recovered on top of a building where the youths reported throwing them, police said.

Juvenile authorities said the three boys were released to their parents pending juvenile court action. Names of the youths were not released, customary practice in juvenile cases.

Aged Woman Found Dead In Water Ditch

An aged Negro woman was found dead lying with her head in about a foot of water at 1611 Grammont St. yesterday and authorities said the woman may have fallen into the ditch and drowned.

She was identified as Betty Langhorn, about 76.

Ouachita coroner Dr. John P. Burton said there was evidence that water had entered the woman's respiratory system, but that it was not impossible that she suffered some seizure before falling into the water. He said death could have been a combination of water and physical cause.

Witnesses reported seeing the woman building a foot bridge across the ditch late Thursday afternoon. Dr. Burton said it was believed the woman had been in the ditch since about 8 p.m. Thursday.

She lived at the address where

Sailor Dies In Collision Near Calhoun

CALHOUN (Special) — A 22-year-old Tennessee sailor was killed instantly yesterday when his car crashed with another a mile west of Calhoun, injuring a Transylvania woman, Mrs. Alon Bradley, 25.

Dead was George Raymond Hodge, Jackson, Tenn., who had been visiting his aunt in Ruston while on shore leave from the USS Tutuila docked at Norfolk, Va.

Mrs. Bradley was in St. Francis Hospital last night where she was reported under treatment for a fractured leg.

State Police said Hodge's English-made sports car apparently went out of control as he approached a hill and swung into the path of a west-bound car driven by Alonzo J. Bradley, 26, of Transylvania. Hodge was headed east.

Died instantly.

Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton said Hodge died instantly of severe head fractures and internal injuries.

Also in the Bradley vehicle but not injured were the Bradleys' children, Michael 4, and Jeri, one. The wreck occurred about 7:30 a.m.

Relatives in Tennessee said that Hodge, the oldest of three brothers, left his home Monday for Ruston to visit the Bill Vandave family, his aunt and uncle.

Mulhearn Funeral Home took charge of the body and announced that relatives from Tennessee were to receive Hodge's remains last night.

Navy sources said that the victim's ship had been operating in the Mediterranean and Atlantic areas.

She was found. The victim was well known around the neighborhood where she lived, and was known by many only as "Honey Babe."

Wide Range Seen In Court Cases

Everything from dog-napping to driving while intoxicated charges came before Judge Jesse Heard in Fourth District Court yesterday.

Eddie Griffin, Negro, being held in jail on charges of theft of a dog valued at $50, was arraigned and trial was set for May 23.

J. F. Manes complained to the district attorney that two beagle hounds disappeared from his home on March 14, but that one, a male, returned in a few days.

Griffin is charged with selling the other dog for $7 to Capt. Jack Oglesbee of the Monroe Police Department. Oglesbee, who is a jailer, said that Griffin sold him the animal, and Griffin admitted it. However, Griffin said that a Rayville Negro had sold him the dog, according to the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department.

Official statements add that Griffin later changed his story, and said he had the two dogs in his yard, one broke loose, and he sold the other to Oglesbee.

The city jailer returned the dog to the Manes family — but was out $7. Griffin was placed in the parish jail and the outcome of the case won't be decided until the trial in three weeks.

Other Cases

Three youths were sentenced to five years each in the State Penitentiary, but Judge Heard then placed them on probation for the five years.

Herman Neil Denton, 20, was sentenced for simple burglary, as were Curtis Thompson, and Leon Simmons alias Larry Simmons, both 19. Thompson and Simmons were charged with entering the Star Bar on March 26 with the intent to commit a crime.

Trial for Murphy Walker, charged with aggravated assault, was set for June 6.

Charlie Hawkins, and Claude Matthews, both charged with driving without a license, pled guilty and were fined $25 or 15 days.

Trial was set on May 16 for Robert Campbell and Marvin L. McGowan, each charged with driving without a license.

Next Friday, and extradition hearing will take place, in which the State of Alabama will request return of Willie Smith to face a murder charge there.

will be present, as well as many of the leading song directors from various sections of Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

City Chamber Joins In Air Service Plea

The Monroe Chamber of Commerce is joining in the plea for additional area commercial air service.

It will add its voice at the hearing before the civil aeronautics board, set for May 21 in Washington.

The occasion will be CAB's hearing of oral arguments in what is known as the South Central case concerning establishment of a commercial line from Houston through Port Arthur, Tex., Lake Charles, Alexandria and Monroe, to Memphis, Tenn.

To Appear

Appearing before the board to substantiate findings of a CAB examiner to the effect that such a route is needed and could be justified will be Louis D. Smith, chairman of the Monroe aviation committee.

It was pointed out that the Monroe Chamber is taking no stand whatsoever as to which airline should receive the franchise.

However, John Fitzmaurice, the CAE examiner, has ruled in favor of Trans-Texas Airline, it was reported.

Eastern and Delta airlines have filed objections which say the route cannot be justified. Southern Airways has said it agrees with the examiner in that the service is needed, but objects on the grounds that they should be given the franchise.

PRESIDENT—Sallie Ann Pohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pohl, was elected president of the Start High School, succeeding Donnie (Buddy) Copeland. She will be a senior next year.

Final Rites For Monroan Wreck Victim

Final rites for Jack Adams, 35-year-old Monroan resident, will be held today at 10 a.m. at the Bosco Baptist Church with the Rev. Enon Boyett officiating.

3 Juveniles Admit To 19 Theft Acts

Three white juvenile boys questioned here yesterday admitted at least 19 acts including theft, bogus check writing, and rifling machines of coins over the last two months, police revealed.

In disclosing the case Chief James C. Kelly Jr. said the boys, two aged 16, and one 14, were apprehended on tips from a local grocery where they had attempted to cash a $25 check and from another grocery where they had cashed a $25 check.

Juvenile authorities who questioned the youths disclosed that all three were admittedly connected with taking money from drink machines at Northeast State College about 10 times. The youths admitted like acts at Ouachita Grammar School, Friday's Used Car Lot, Baptist Student Center at NLSC, and three Rose Oil Stations, authorities said.

The theft of about $20 from Sheppard's Grocery was also confessed, by the three, police said.

According to investigators, the youths admitted taking keys from the Baptist Student Center at NLSC, and used them to open several drink boxes. Police explained that drink boxes of the same type usually have the same type locks. The keys were recovered on top of a building where the youths reported throwing them, police said.

Juvenile authorities said the three boys were released to their parents pending juvenile court action. Names of the youths were not released, customary practice in juvenile cases.

Burton said there was evidence that water had entered the woman's respiratory system, but that it was not impossible that she suffered some seizure before falling into the water. He said death could have been a combination of water and physical cause.

Witnesses reported seeing the woman building a foot - bridge across the ditch late Thursday afternoon. Dr. Burton said it was believed the woman had been in the ditch since about 8 p.m. Thursday.

She lived at the address where

IN MONROE

Wide Range Seen In Court Cases

Everything from dog-napping to driving while intoxicated charges came before Judge Jesse Heard in Fourth District Court yesterday.

Eddie Griffin, Negro, being held in jail on charges of theft of a dog valued at $50, was arraigned and trial was set for May 23.

J. F. Manes complained to the district attorney that two beagle hounds disappeared from his home on March 14, but that one, a male, returned in a few days.

Griffin is charged with selling the other dog for $7 to Capt. Jack Oglesbee of the Monroe Police Department. Oglesbee, who is a jailer, said that Griffin sold him the animal, and Griffin admitted it. However, Griffin said that a Rayville Negro had sold him the dog, according to the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department.

Official statements add that Griffin later changed his story, and said he had the two dogs in his yard, one broke loose, and he sold the other to Oglesbee.

The city jailer returned the dog to the Manes family — but was out $7. Griffin was placed in the parish jail — and the outcome of the case won't be decided until the trial in three weeks.

Other Cases

Three youths were sentenced to five years each in the State Penitentiary, but Judge Heard then placed them on probation for the five years.

Herman Neil Denton, 20, was sentenced for simple burglary, as were Curtis Thompson, and Leon Simmons alias Larry Simmons, both 19. Thompson and Simmons were charged with entering the Star Bar on March 26 with the intent to commit a crime.

Trial for Murphy Walker, charged with aggravated assault, was set for June 6.

Charlie Hawkins, and Claude Matthews, both charged with driving without a license, pled guilty and were fined $25 or 15 days.

Trial was set on May 16 for Robert Campbell and Marvin L. McGowan, each charged with driving without a license. Next Friday, and extradition hearing will take place, in which the State of Alabama will request return of Willie Smith to face a murder charge there.

will be present, as well as many of the leading song directors from various sections of Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

City Chamber Joins In Air Service Plea

The Monroe Chamber of Commerce is joining in the plea for additional area commercial air service.

It will add its voice at the hearing before the civil aeronautics board, set for May 21 in Washington.

The occasion will be CAB's hearing of oral arguments in what is known as the South Central case concerning establishment of a commercial line from Houston through Port Arthur, Tex., Lake Charles, Alexandria and Monroe, to Memphis, Tenn.

To Appear

Appearing before the board to substantiate findings of a CAB examiner to the effect that such a route is needed and could be justified will be Louis D. Smith, chairman of the Monroe aviation committee.

It was pointed out that the Monroe Chamber is taking no stand whatsoever as to which airline should receive the franchise.

However, John Fitzmaurice, the CAE examiner, has ruled in favor of Trans - Texas Airline, it was reported.

Eastern and Delta airlines have filed objections which say the route cannot be justified. Southern Airways has said it agrees with the examiner in that the service is needed, but objects on the grounds that they should be given the franchise.

Final Rites For Monroyan Wreck Victim

Final rites for Jack Adams, 35-year - old Monroe resident, will be held today at 10 a.m. at the Bosco Baptist Church with the Rev. Enon Boyett officiating.

ST. LOUIS U. — Said Ready To Hire Benington

ST. LOUIS (U) — Drake Coach John Benington appears likely to get the head basketball coaching job at St. Louis University, unless the University of Iowa hires him first.

St. Louis University officials are expected to move fast to fore-close Iowa, which reportedly has contacted the 36-year-old Benington about the coaching job there. A decision may be made by St. Louis before Sunday.

Iowa Coach Frank O'Connor was killed in an automobile accident last week.

Benington's Drake team finished with a 13-12 record last season, 7-7 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

A pitchers duel between Southerland and Bossier's George Nattin and Cecil Upshaw, who gave up only two hits themselves the contest was decided in the second when Neville scored its initial tally. Nattin, the starter and loser, walked the first two batters in the frame, Southerland and Dan Keith made Ronnie Yanks bounce back to the mound but his throw to third was too late to nip Southerland and all hands were safe.

Neville scored again in the fifth on a free pass to Joey McGinn, a sacrifice by Dooley Haddad and Francis Genua's clean single to left.

The loss left Bossier, district 1-AA winners, with an 8-3 mark for the year.

For Southerland, the victory was his fourth of the year and third shutout. The tall left-hander struck out five and walked two.

North Texas State Golfers Win Tourney

ATHENS, Ga. (U) — North Texas State golfers clinched their sixth Southern Intercollegiate team title Friday and their captain, slender Dick Whetzel, surged out front in the battle for individual honors.

This was the third straight team victory for North Texas State in this annual college clambake. Paced by Whetzel's 69-71-140, the Eagles posted a four-man aggregate of 579, three strokes over par for the 6,745-yard Athens Country Club course which has a standard 36-36-72.

Georgia was team runner-up with 583, which gave the Bulldogs their second consecutive Southeastern Conference crown. The SEC team and individual golf titles are determined in the first 36 holes of this tournament each year.

Whetzel, the defending champion, vaulted from a tie for second into a two-stroke lead with his steady 71. Hugh Royer Jr., of Georgia, who was tied with Whetzel at the start of the round, and Bob Brue of Miami, Fla., were deadlocked in second spot at 142.

Brue shot a 72, Royer a 73. The first round leader, Jackie Maness of Alabama, fell back into the pack with a 78 which gave him a 146 total.

The final two rounds are scheduled Saturday and for the 36-hole grind the field of 140 was trimmed to the 40 low scorers and ties. It took a 153 or under to survive the cut.

Second round scores included: Roy Smith, Mississippi Southern, 73-73-146; Robbie Webb, Mississippi Southern, 76-80-156; Sam Hall, Mississippi Southern, 81-81-162.

WATER-LOGGED COURSE

Bolt Shoots Par 70 To Lead Colonial Invitational Meet

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
 FORT WORTH, Tex. (U) — Pugnacious Tommy Bolt slogged over a water-logged course for a par 70 Friday to push into first place in the $25,000 Colonial Invitational Golf Tournament.

His 138 for 36 holes gave him a 2-stroke lead over Stan Leonard, the Canadian, while Arnold Palmer, who had topped the field at the end of the first round with a 65, despaired with a 7-over-par 77 that dropped him well down the list.

The 39-year-old Bolt had been tied for second place. He had opened with a 68 Thursday. Bolt, who registers out of Paradise, Fla., and is as well known for his club throwing as a fine golfer, wasn't particularly happy over his round. "Thirty puts isn't so hot," he declared, "I played good and bad."

Leonard, winner of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas last week end, had a 72 to make his total 140 he said he played well.

Palmer, who indicated he thought the round should have been called when steady rain set in, wetting the course, declared he played poorly because of that fact.

"I kept thinking they would call it," explained Palmer.

"I just couldn't settle down and concentrate," he said nothing he had done seemed to be right. Bolt has played here 12 times and finished in the money 11 times, with his highest finish being second in 1956.

"I bogeyed the 3-par holes on the front nine and birdied them on the second," grinned Bolt. "That's the consistency for you—and it gave me even par."

But while Bolt talked down his putting, he actually had six 1-put greens. At one stage, from 12 through 15, he had all 1-put holes.

The second round started late when the rain that has fallen on the 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course for seven days let up and the sun tried to break through. But in an hour it was raining steadily and this kept up for three hours.

The tournament committee was meeting constantly to decide what to do. While most of the players thought it should have been called, the committee decided to go ahead and a provision was put in that the players could move the ball around water on the greens.

The leaders:
 Tommy Bolt 68-70-138
 Stan Leonard 68-72-140

St. Louis U. Said Ready To Hire Benington

ST. LOUIS (P) — Drake Coach John Benington appears likely to get the head basketball coaching job at St. Louis University—unless the University of Iowa hires him first.

St. Louis University officials are expected to move fast to fore-close Iowa, which reportedly has contacted the 36-year-old Benington about the coaching job. A decision may be made by St. Louis before Sunday.

Iowa Coach Frank O'Connor was killed in an automobile accident last week.

Benington's Drake team finished with a 13-12 record last season, 7-7 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

Tigers, unbeaten in eight games, to meet the winner of the Morgan City - Hannville series for the state title. Bossier and Neville were to have played a two-out-of-three series for the north state title but rains postponed the games and necessitated a sudden death playoff.

A pitchers duel between Southerland and Bossier's George Nattin and Cecil Upshaw, who gave up only two hits themselves the contest was decided in the second when Neville scored its initial tally. Nattin, the starter and loser, walked the first two batters in the frame, Southerland and Dan Keith. Nattin was yanked and Upshaw made Ronnie Sims bounce back to the mound but his throw to third was too late to nip Southerland and all hands were safe. Louis Kincaid brought in Southerland with an infield grounder.

Neville scored again in the fifth on a free pass to Joey McGinn, a sacrifice by Dooley Haddad and Francis Genusa's clean single to left.

The loss left Bossier, district 1-AA winners, with an 8-5 mark for the year.

For Southerland, the victory was his fourth of the year and third shutout. The tall lefthander struck out five and walked two.

North Texas State Golfers Win Tourney

ATHENS, Ga. (P)—North Texas State golfers clinched their sixth Southern Intercollegiate team title Friday and their captain, slender Dick Whetzel, surged out front in the battle for individual honors.

This was the third straight team victory for North Texas State in this annual college clambake.

Paced by Whetzel's 69-71-140, the Eagles posted a four-man aggregate of 579, three strokes over par for the 6,745-yard Athens Country Club course which has a standard 36-36-72.

Georgia was team runner-up with 583, which gave the Bulldogs their second consecutive Southern Conference crown. The SEC team and individual golf titles are determined in the first 36 holes of this tournament each year.

Whetzel, the defending champion, vaulted from a tie for second into a two-stroke lead with his steady 71. Hugh Royer Jr., of Georgia, who was tied with Whetzel at the start of the round, and Bob Brue of Miami, Fla., were deadlocked in second spot at 142. Brue shot a 72, Royer a 73.

The first round leader, Jackie Maness of Alabama, fell back into the pack with a 78 which gave him a 146 total.

The final two rounds are scheduled Saturday and for the 36-hole grind the field of 140 was trimmed to the 40 low scorers and ties. It took a 153 or under to survive the cut.

"I kept thinking they would call it," explained Palmer.

EXPENSE CLASH

Aussie Threatening To Abandon Tennis

MELBOURNE (P)—Mal Anderson, the Australian who holds the U.S. singles championship, indicated he was on the verge of quitting tennis Friday. His threat followed the Australian Lawn Tennis Assn.'s refusal to give him the cash for first class travel around the world and let him make tourist reservations for himself and his bride.

The ALTA refused the request late Thursday. Anderson threatened to quit tennis and work instead for his father-in-law on a huge cattle ranch.

It is the second time in recent months that Anderson, one of the mainstays of the Australian Davis Cup team, has clashed with the ruling fathers.

Earlier this year they told him that his bride could not make the world trip with him. Anderson threatened to quit and the association said that Mrs. Anderson could become a member of the official party if Anderson, 22, would pay her expenses. Anderson agreed.

An investigation, however, disclosed that he would be unable to pay the costs in view of the party would travel first class and stay in top-flight hotels in London, Paris and New York City. Anderson followed by submitting a request that he be paid his expenses in cash and that he and his bride would travel tourist class and stay in moderate priced hotels or private homes.

"Anderson knows our policy, we will not change it. We will not pay wives' touring expenses," said D. M. Ferguson, president of the ALTA.

"My round-the-world air ticket is waiting to be picked up in Brisbane—but it will stay there forever as far as I am concerned," Anderson said.

Miss Creed Easily Takes Fourth State Golf Crown

CREED WINS ANOTHER CROWN—Clifford Ann Creed, winner of last year's World and All-American Women's Amateur golf titles, yesterday won her fourth Louisiana Women's Amateur crown. BATON ROUGE (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Clifford Ann Creed romped to her fourth straight Louisiana Women's Amateur title Friday, walloping Mrs. E. J. Mittlebronn of New Orleans 12 and 11.

The Opelousas girl, who is listed as a member of the Lamar Tech men's golf team, lost only two holes out of 25 played—both as a result of tee shots straying off the fairway.

Miss Creed, shooting a 78, four over women's par on the Baton Rouge Country Club course, took a 10-hole lead in the first 18 holes of the 36-hole playoff.

She won the next two holes to go 12 up. They broke even on 21 and 22. Mrs. Mittlebronn won the 23rd hole, but Miss Creed won again on the 24th and the match ended as they broke even on the 25th.

Mrs. Sam Israel of New Orleans, a six time state champion, gave Miss Creed her toughest match, losing Thursday 4 and 3. Miss Creed's father, Clifford Creed, is professional at the Indian Springs Country Club in Opelousas.

The teenage golfing whiz holds just about every major women's amateur title, missing only the women's intercollegiate crown which she lost in the finals in 1957, first year she was eligible to compete.

Miss Creed won both the Tam O'Shanter women's amateur and world championship tournaments at Chicago last year and was 1957 Southern amateur champ.

A sophomore at the Beaumont, Tex., college, she beats the men's team and the coach in practice competition. In her only collegiate match, she whipped her male opponent 7 and 6. Since then, the coach reports, other colleges have objected to playing against a woman.

Northeast Tilt Is Postponed

Northeast's Gulf States Conference baseball game with Louisiana Tech, scheduled for today here, has been postponed because of wet grounds.

Northeast Coach George Luffey said the game will probably be played here Monday if weather conditions permit. If Tech doesn't play here Monday, Northeast will meet Southeastern in a game postponed by rain last week.

Tech Golfers Meeting SLI Rivals Today

RUSTON, La. (Special) — One golf match this Saturday and three next week will close out Louisiana Tech's 1958 schedule with the exception of the conference tournament.

Saturday afternoon the Tech linksters are to play host to Southwest Louisiana in a contest slated for the Ruston Country Club course. It will be the first meeting of these two Gulf States Conference teams this season.

Next week will find the Bulldogs meeting Centenary College at Shreveport on Tuesday, Southwestern Louisiana at Lafayette on Friday and Centenary at Ruston on Saturday. The Tech-Centenary tilt on Tuesday was postponed from May 29 because of rain.

Grant Cops 3rd As Orioles Fall

BALTIMORE (AP) — Young Jim Grant notched his third victory of the season Friday night as Cleveland clobbered the Baltimore Orioles with 11 hits 6-1.

Grant scattered six Baltimore hits, allowing the only run when Gus Triandos and Bob Nieman hit back-to-back doubles in the seventh inning.

The 22-year-old right-hander locked with Broadway Billy Loes in a tight mound duel through the sixth inning when the Indians led 1-0. Oriole errors helped Cleveland to a pair of runs. After Bobby Avila and Minnie Minoso singled in the first inning, Mickey Vernon popped to Billy Gardner. Avila, on third, raced for home and scored when catcher Triandos dropped the throw from Gardner.

West Monroe Tilt Postponed

West Monroe's game with Byrd has been postponed once again and the Rebels and Yellow Jackets will try to play their vital district 1-AAA contest Monday afternoon at 3:30 on the West Monroe diamond.

The week's heavy rains left too much water on the Rebel field to permit the game, scheduled for today.

Byrd is leading the 1-AAA race with a 4-0 record while West Monroe is second with a 4-1 mark. A Byrd win would give the title to the Shreveporters while a West Monroe victory would clinch a tie for first for Dan McClure's Rebels.

Set Retriever Trials May 11' At Oak Ridge

The North Louisiana Retriever Club will hold field trials in the Moss pasture, near Oak Ridge, Sunday, May 11. A large group of retrievers, both local and out-of-state, is expected to participate.

Dr. Robert Wood, chairman of the field trials committee, said the event will get under way at 9:30 a.m. and continue through the day until completion. Separate trials will be held for the puppies under 15 months and for the all-age shooting dogs. While the trials are informal, four ribbons will be given in the "shooting dog" stakes and one in the puppy trials.

The trials will be similar to those held recently in the same location. At that time dogs from Texas and Mississippi joined local retrievers in the first field trials held in north Louisiana.

Tomorrow the field trial committee will meet to work out final plans for the event. In addition, to Dr. Wood, the committee is composed of Erle Barham, ex-officio member, W. M. Yates, J. E. "Chili" Bauer, Eddie Holmes, Harry Carpenter, James McLendon, Herb Denton, Robert St. John and Allen Barham.

Allen Barham will serve as gun chairman for the event.

Gulfstream Park's record payoff was $191.50 for $2 when Gold Beach won on Jan. 3, 1946.

THREE FAVORED

Two Horses Drop Out Of Derby; Muddy Track Seen

This old city on a horseshoe bend in the Ohio River was jammed by thousands of visitors from all parts of the country and overseas, awaiting the moment when the massed bands play "My Old Kentucky Home" and the horses parade to the post for the 4:30 p.m. (EST) start.

On most lips was the big question: Can Silky Sullivan, the California crawler, come through with his patented late charge and overtake the leaders in time to grab the greenbacks and glory?

Tim Tam, the speedy Calumet

Farm colt who rules the 2 to 1 favorite, certainly won't be back there keeping Silky company in the early stages. Neither will Jewel's Reward, the big gun in the Maine Chance Farm battery which was cut to two starters because of the mishap to Jet's Alibi. Ebony Pearl now is the only running mate for Jewel's Reward, with the entry at 7 to 2.

Silky ruled the second choice at 5 to 2.

The crowd, expected to be perhaps the biggest in derby history—over 100,000 if the weatherman cooperates—will make the odds when it begins working over the paramutuel machines. Silky at least will be the sentimental favorite, for his late rushes at times from 40 lengths off the pace have endeared him to sports fans.

Scattered showers were forecast for Friday night and Saturday, with a possibility that a thunderstorm or two might turn the present fast track into the quagmire it was earlier in the week.

The nation's millions can peek into the picture via the television screen, or get the derby lowdown by radio. The broadcasts CBA will run from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m., EST.

Others entered are Gone Fishing; Flamingo, Martins Rullah, Nouredin, Warren G., Lincoln Road, Red Hot Pistol, A Dragon Killer, Chance It Tony and Benedicto. A Dragon Killer may come out if the track is off.

If 14 start, the race still will be the second richest derby. The jackpot would gross $160,500, the winner netting $116,400. Tops was the $123,450 grabbed by Needles when he came from next to last in a field of 16 to win in 1956.

Frosh To Play Football In Southern Loop

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The Southern Conference voted Friday to bar freshmen from all varsity sports except football, effective July 1 this year. The rule will go into effect in football July 1, 1959.

The conference, however, voted down in a closed session a companion recommendation by its executive committee which would have forbidden colleges which do not observe the freshman rule.

The vote on imposition of the freshman rule in the conference was 8 to 2, with Washington and Lee and Davidson the only opposition. Subsequently, on the motion of these two colleges, the vote was made unanimous.

Rejection of the requirement that conference opponents follow the freshman rule came on a voice vote with one or two eyes heard. Seven votes were necessary for passage.

Turner Matched With Hart For June 10 Battle

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two pals, Gil Turner and Garnett "Sugar" Hart, Philadelphia welterweights, will meet in a scheduled 10-round outdoor fight at Connie Mack Stadium June 10.

Pascual, who fanned 10 in the first four innings, accumulated all his strikeouts in the first nine innings and missed by one tying the Washington record held by Walter Johnson and Jim Shaw.

With one out in the ninth, Bridges doubled to left for the first hit off Jerry Staley, who replaced Dick Donovan with one out in the seventh. Pinch hitter Jim Lemon filed deep to left but Becquer batted for Pascual and ripped a single to right.

The White Sox scored in the first inning when Nellie Fox beat out a trickler down the first base line, stole second and scored on Sherm Lollar's single.

Roy Sievers' third home run tied the score in the second but the White Sox grabbed a 2-1 lead in the fifth after Ted Beard reach first base on Bridges' low throw. Beard moved around to third on infield outs and scored on Lollar's single to left.

The Senators tied the score at 2-2 in the seventh after Clint Courtney was nicked by a pitched ball. Singles by Norm Zauchin and Rocky Bridges got him around.

The victory moved the Senators into second place, a game and a half back of the New York Yankees.

Sisler Wins 3rd As Bengals Fall

BOSTON (AP)—Boston right-hand-er Dave Sisler scattered seven hits for his third victory as the Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 6-0 Friday.

Sisler, who was hampered by shoulder trouble most of last season, had pinpoint control and didn't give a walk while striking out four in a neat performance. Sisler had to be at his best as he was opposed by Detroit right-hander Jim Bunning, an old Boston nemesis who had five victories in six decisions against the Red Sox en route to a 20-game season in 1957.

Bunning gave up three runs, two of them unearned in the seventh, before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. The Red Sox finished up with three runs off George Spencer in their half of the eighth before Tom Morgan put down the rally.

Second baseman Pete Runnels led the Boston assault on Bunning, who was charged with his third loss against a single victory.

Runnels had a double and a pair of singles driving in two runs. His double scored Jimmy Piersall in the second and his second single counted the third run in the seventh.

With one out in the seventh, Frank Malone walked and Sammy White and Piersall followed with singles to fill the bases. Malone scored as shortstop Renaldo Bortola bobbled Don Buddin's grounder and his throw failed to nip Buddin who slid into first.

Runnels then singled to score White. Piersall also came around but was tagged several feet from the plate and called out for failing to touch home. The Red Sox argued with Umpire Larry Napp and White was ejected.

A walk, a single by Gene Stephens, a double by Malone and a single by Piersall accounted for the three runs off Spencer in the eighth.

The Tigers reached Sisler for two hits in only two innings, the second and the ninth. Dave retired 11 straight at one stage until Charlie Maxwell's pinch single in the seventh.

Moryn's Homer Gives Cubs 8-7 Triumph Over Braves

By JERRY LISK
CHICAGO (AP)—Walt Moryn's 21st-inning homer, his second of the game, after a 6-run Chicago rally tied the score at 7-7 in the seventh, gave the homer-happy Cubs an 8-7 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves Friday.

The Cubs, who have belted 28 homers in 15 games, thus improved their first-place standing in the National League.

Pinch hitter Jim Bolger's three-run homer started the big Cub seventh and chased Milwaukee starter Gene Conley.

The winner was the fourth Cub pitcher, Don Elston, who pitched a scoreless ninth for his third triumph against no defeats. The fourth Milwaukee hurler, Dick Littlefield, was the loser.

It was the third straight victory for the Cubs over the world champion Braves and gave Chicago a 10-5 record.

The roof caved in on Conley in the big Cub seventh after Bobby Thomson got an infield single. Sammy Taylor singled to center and Bolger homered over the left field bleachers.

Tony Taylor's single chased Conley, but more trouble befell his successor, Ernie Johnson. Lee Walls beat out a hit to third and a throwing error moved Taylor to third and Walls to second.

Ernie Banks singled across Taylor and Dale Long's single scored Walls with the inning's fifth run. The game was tied at 7-7 on Carl Sawatski's passed ball which brought Banks dashing home from third.

The third Milwaukee pitcher, Carlton Willey, finally got Thomson, up the second time in the inning, on a force-play roller to end the frame.

The Braves fashioned a 6-0 lead against Cub starter, Dick Drott, who yielded six hits in five innings, including a two-run homer by Wes Covington in the fourth. It was the season's first hit for Covington, making his first appearance since benched April 8 by a knee injury.

Milwaukee went ahead 7-0 in the sixth on pinch-hitter Mel Roach's leadoff single, an error and Conley's single against Chicago's reliever Ed Mayer.

Williams Receives '57 Athlete Award

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (AP)—Boston's fabulous Ted Williams Friday received an award that had eluded him during his long career—the trophy as male athlete of the year.

Selected by the nation's sports-writers and sportscasters in the annual Associated Press poll in 1957, the Red Sox outfielder was presented the Frederick C. Miller Memorial Trophy in a brief ceremony before the start of the Boston-Detroit game.

The 39-year-old slugger laughed and joked while accepting the engraved trophy from Judge Robert C. Cannon of Framingham, national vice president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The Eagles put up the trophy annually. "Say, that's some trophy," said Williams as he examined the award which is more than two feet tall including its base.

"I was really happy when I heard I had been voted the award," Ted added. "I know it's a great honor."

Although off to a poor start and hitting under .200, Williams indicated he intends to have another great season when he asks: "Has anyone ever won it twice?"

Told that former tennis star Don Budge and golfer Byron Nelson each had been voted athlete of the year twice, Ted said, "I dunno but I think I was second one year I can't remember when."

From the look on Ted's face it appeared he would like to be the third man to be voted for the honor twice.

Williams won the outstanding athlete laurels for his fantastic batting last season. He won his fifth American league batting title with a .388 average, the highest since his own .406 mark in 1941.

In addition, he belted 38 homers, won the league's slugging title with the remarkable .731 mark and set a record by drawing 33 intentional walks. He was named to the All-Star team for the 13th time.

Those performances enabled him to outdistance Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette and the then middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio in the AP poll of

Yanks Hinting Video War Within Big League Family

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, said Friday the club would be more inclined to listen to propositions to telecast games into other cities after learning of plans to beam some St. Louis and Pittsburgh games into New York.

Weiss denied that the Yankees planned to retaliate immediately. "If we had wanted to retaliate we could have done it long ago," he said, referring to an offer to telecast Yankee games into Philadelphia while Philie games were being aired in New York.

"How far can you go?" Weiss asked a news conference at Yankee Stadium. "Now you have three clubs coming into New York. Before it was only Philadelphia. You've got to wonder how long this sort of thing can go on."

Weiss said the other clubs were perfectly within their rights under the present wide open rules of baseball. Once there was a territorial restriction on radio and TV of baseball but this was removed at the suggestion of the federal government's antitrust department.

"The Yankees would welcome the day when radio and television would be confined to a club's own territory," said Weiss.

Admitting the Yankees are participating in the Saturday and Sunday game-of-the-week telecasts, Weiss said it was a case of taking part or letting somebody else do it.

Asked about next year, Weiss said he couldn't tell at this time whether the Yanks would be interested in any network telecast of its daily games. He did say there was no possibility of daily Yankee telecasts on a network this year.

"I would say we would be more inclined to listen to propositions to go into other cities than we were," said Weiss.

It was announced Wednesday that at least 40 games involving the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants when they play in St. Louis and Pittsburgh will be telecast in New York by National Telefilm Associates.

Although Dan Topping, Yankee president, said Thursday night he understood there would be a conflict between some of the games in St. Louis and Yankee home dates, this was denied. Ely Landau, chairman of the board of Charley Burr, the country's leading rider in 1951, will be a part of Iron Liege's top weight of 126 pounds. Bill Cook has the mount on Pintor Lea who carries 112.

MANTLE WATCHES

Yankees Deflate Athletics As Turley, Kubek Star, 8-1

NEW YORK (UP) — Mickey Mantle sat on the sidelines Friday and watched his replacement, Tony Kubek, collect three hits as the New York Yankees deflated the Kansas City Athletics, 8-1.

RED SOX BY 6-0

Sisler Wins 3rd As Bengals Fall

BOSTON (AP) — Boston right-hander Dave Sisler scattered seven hits for his third victory as the Red Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 6-0 Friday.

Sisler, who was hampered by shoulder trouble most of last season, had pinpoint control and didn't give a walk while striking out four in a neat performance. Sisler had to be at his best as he was opposed by Detroit right-hander Jim Bunning, an old Boston nemesis who had five victories in six decisions against the Red Sox en route to a 20-game season in 1957.

Bunning gave up three runs, two of them unearned in the seventh, before giving way to a pinch hitter in the eighth. The Red Sox finished up with three runs off George Spencer in their half of the eighth before Tom Morgan put down the rally.

Second baseman Pete Runnels led the Boston assault on Bunning, who was charged with his third loss against a single victory.

Runnels had a double and a pair of singles driving in two runs. His double scored Jimmy Piersall in the second and his second single counted the third run in the seventh.

With one out in the seventh, Frank Malzone walked and Sammy White and Piersall followed with singles to fill the bases. Malzone scored as shortstop Renaldo Bertoia bobbled Don Buddin's grounder and his throw failed to more, gave up his first run of the season after 20 consecutive scoreless innings when Bob Cerv slammed his eighth homer deep into the left field seats to lead off the second inning.

The victory was Turley's third of the campaign and boosted his lifetime record to 11-1 over the Athletics.

Kubek, who had been sidelined for three weeks with a thigh injury, got his chance to play for the first time this year when Mantle's sprained right ankle necessitated his removal from the starting lineup. Kubek helped the Yankees jump to a quick three-run lead off ex-teammate Ralph Terry in the first inning.

Hank Bauer opened the inning with a single off Hector Lopez' glove. Norm Siebern, attempting to sacrifice, was safe on Terry's error and the bases were loaded when Kubek bunted safely. Yogi Berra then singled to center for two runs and Bill Skowron followed with another single, driving in Kubek.

Skowron hit his third homer of the year following Siebern's single in the third to increase the Yankees' lead to 5-1. The Yankees added three more runs off reliever Walt Craddock in the seventh.

3RD STRAIGHT FOR BRUINS

Moryn's Homer Gives Cubs 8-7 Triumph Over Braves

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP) — Walt Moryn's 10th-inning homer, his second of the game, after a 6-run Chicago rally tied the score at 7-7 in the seventh, gave the homer-happy Cubs an 8-7 triumph over the Milwaukee Braves Friday.

The Cubs, who have belted 28 homers in 15 games, thus improved their first-place standing in the National League.

Pinch hitter Jim Bolger's three-run homer started the big Cub seventh and chased Milwaukee starter Gene Conley.

The winner was the fourth Cub pitcher, Don Elston, who pitched a scoreless ninth for his third triumph against no defeats. The fourth Milwaukee hurler, Dick Littlefield, was the loser.

It was the third straight victory for the Cubs over the world champion Braves and gave Chicago a 10-5 record.

The roof caved in on Conley in the big Cub seventh after Bobby Thomson got an infield single. Sammy Taylor singled to center and Bolger homered over the left field bleachers.

Tony Taylor's single chased Conley, but more trouble befell his successor, Ernie Johnson. Lee Walls beat out a hit to third and a throwing error moved Taylor to third and Walls to second.

Ernie Banks singled across Taylor and Dale Long's single scored Walls with the inning's fifth run. The game was tied at 7-7 on Carl Sawalski's passed ball which brought Banks dashing home from third.

The third Milwaukee pitcher, Carlton Willey, finally got Thomson, up the second time in the inning, on a force-play roller to end the frame.

AT LAST Williams Receives '57 Athlete Award

By DAVE O'HARA
BOSTON (AP) — Boston's fabulous Ted Williams Friday received an award that had eluded him during his long career—the trophy as male athlete of the year.

Selected by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters in the annual Associated Press poll in 1957, the Red Sox outfielder was presented the Frederick C. Miller Memorial Trophy in a brief ceremony before the start of the Boston-Detroit game.

The 39-year-old slugger laughed and joked while accepting the engraved trophy from Judge Robert C. Cannon of Milwaukee and Andrew J. Halloran of Framingham, national vice president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The Eagles put up the trophy annually.

"Say, that's some trophy," said Williams as he examined the award which is more than two feet tall including its base.

"I was really happy when I heard I had been voted the award," Ted added. "I know it's a great honor."

Although off to a poor start and hitting under .200, Williams indicated he intends to have another great season when he asks: "Has anyone ever won it twice?"

Told that former tennis star Don Budge and golfer Byron Nelson each had been voted athlete of the year twice, Ted said, "I dunno but I think I was second one year I can't remember when."

From the look on Ted's face it appeared he would like to be the third man to be voted for the honor twice.

Williams won the outstanding athlete laurels for his fantastic batting last season. He won his fifth American league batting title with a .388 average, the highest since his own .406 mark in 1941.

In addition, he belted 38 homers, won the league's slugging title with the remarkable .731 mark and set a record by drawing 33 intentional walks. He was named to the All-Star team for the 13th time.

Those performances enabled him to outdistance Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette and the then middleweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio in the AP poll of 214 sportswriters and sportscasters.

New York's Mickey Mantle, the 1956 winner, who was voted the American League's most valuable player the past two years, finished far down in the balloting in a tie for 13th place.

Milwaukee went ahead 7-0 in the sixth on pinch-hitter Mel Roach's leadoff single, an error and Conley's single against Chicago's reliever Ed Mayer.

Girl From Las Vegas

By ANNE ALLISON

Chapter 35
The news that Jed Sutton was on his way to Fairhaven filled Melanie with dread. "I don't want to see him," she told Mr. Sutton, who was watching her curiously as they stood apart from the gaiety of the wedding reception. "You have my blessing — for what it's worth," Jed's father said kindly. "Whatever you may think of me, Melanie, I know when I'm wrong." "Once it would have meant everything to me to hear you say that," she admitted. "I'm saying it now. It's never too late, is it?" A light breeze stirred, carrying with it the scent of flowers from the gardens, but for Melanie the ideal June day had turned sour. "You don't understand, Mr. Sutton. I don't want to marry your son. I'm surprised you would tolerate a divorce in the family in any case." "It doesn't matter much what you want, Melanie. It's what Jed and Marsha want. But I should not be discussing this with you. Jed will want to tell you himself." Melanie turned and went inside the house. Julie was standing on the winding staircase, throwing her bridal bouquet. Seeing her sister's happy face, Melanie once again put aside her personal problem and went upstairs to help Julie dress. "Oh, Melanie, it was perfect, wasn't it? I don't think there's ever been a nicer wedding in Amesville," Julie stepped out of the white lace folds and into a simple beige linen frock. "We're probably crazy to go to New Orleans this time of year, but you know it's traditional..." Melanie had to smile. "Because all the Carmichael brides go to New Orleans on their honeymoon. Julie, you fascinate me. You never change, do you?" Julie ran a comb through her short blonde hair. "I guess not fundamentally. Do any of us?" Standing by the window watching the gay crowd in the garden below, Melanie murmured, "Some of us do. Me, for instance. A year ago I would have given anything I possess to marry Jed Sutton."

Julie turned from the gold framed mirror of her dressing table. "I saw you talking to Mr. Sutton. What did he want?" "To give Jed and me his blessing. To tell me he will now allow me to marry his son since Marsha apparently doesn't want him any more." "Oh, Melanie, that's wonderful. It is?" "But if Marsha is going to divorce him anyway..." Melanie sighed. "I don't want another woman's husband, Julie, and that's what Jed will always be in my mind. Marsha's husband." "I thought you loved him." "So did I, but I was wrong. Even if Jed hadn't married Marsha I wouldn't want him now."

Julie and Paul departed in their new convertible for New Orleans, and Melanie joined the crowd who called good wishes and threw handfuls of rice as the car slowly wound its way down the drive of Fairhaven. And then, as she turned back toward the house, Melanie saw Jed Sutton. "I just got off the plane an hour ago in the city," Jed informed her. "I drove like a bat out of hades to get here. Melanie, I've got to talk to you. Isn't there somewhere we can go?" She looked at him without emotion. "In the library, Jed. Follow me." Behind closed doors they faced each other. "Did Dad tell you the good news?" "Not exactly. What is it?" He smiled confidently. "Marsha's getting a divorce. She's in Vegas. I've been out there, too, settling details."

Melanie wanted to laugh. How very appropriate that Marsha should go to Las Vegas! He attempted to take her in his arms. "Six weeks, Melanie, and I'll be free. No family protest. No money problem. Just what we've always wanted." "It's impossible, Jed," she said, not without a twinge of pity. "I told you that last time we talked." He released her abruptly. "I thought you were holding out for marriage. Isn't that what you wanted?" Determined to call his bluff, Melanie demanded, "Are you telling me that Marsha is getting a divorce because of me?" "No, I'm not," Jed admitted angrily. "Marsha and I hate the sight of each other, and she doesn't know about you or she probably wouldn't let me go." "You told me she didn't care."

"I lied. I had to say something to get you back. You're the one I've always loved. You know that." For reply Melanie flung open the door. "Good bye, Jed. This time I mean it." And then she forgot Jed — for coming toward her, down the long hall, elbowing his way through the laughing throngs of people — was Scott Sutton. (To Be Continued)

Girl From Las Vegas

By ANNE ALLISON

Chapter 35
The news that Jed Sutton was on his way to Fairhaven filled Melanie with dread. "I don't want to see him," she told Mr. Sutton, who was watching her curiously as they stood apart from the gaiety of the wedding reception. "You have my blessing — for what it's worth," Jed's father said kindly. "Whatever you may think of me, Melanie, I know when I'm wrong." "Once it would have meant everything to me to hear you say that," she admitted. "I'm saying it now. It's never too late, is it?" A light breeze stirred, carrying with it the scent of flowers from the gardens, but for Melanie the ideal June day had turned sour. "You don't understand, Mr. Sutton. I don't want to marry your son. I'm surprised you would tolerate a divorce in the family in any case." "It doesn't matter much what you want, Melanie. It's what Jed and Marsha want. But I should not be discussing this with you. Jed will want to tell you himself." Melanie turned and went inside the house. Julie was standing on the winding staircase, throwing her bridal bouquet. Seeing her sister's happy face, Melanie once again put aside her personal problem and went upstairs to help Julie dress. "Oh, Melanie, it was perfect, wasn't it? I don't think there's ever been a nicer wedding in Amesville." Julie stepped out of the white lace folds and into a simple beige linen frock. "We're probably crazy to go to New Orleans this time of year, but you know it's traditional..." Melanie had to smile. "Because all the Carmichael brides go to New Orleans on their honeymoon. Julie, you fascinate me. You never change, do you?" Julie ran a comb through her short blonde hair. "I guess not fundamentally. Do any of us?" Standing by the window watching the gay crowd in the garden below, Melanie murmured, "Some of us do. Me, for instance. A year ago I would have given anything I possess to marry Jed Sutton."

Julie turned from the gold framed mirror of her dressing table. "I saw you talking to Mr. Sutton. What did he want?" "To give Jed and me his blessing. To tell me he will now allow me to marry his son — since Marsha apparently doesn't want him any more." "Oh, Melanie, that's wonderful!" "It is?" "But if Marsha is going to divorce him anyway..." Melanie sighed. "I don't want another woman's husband, Julie, and that's what Jed will always be in my mind. Marsha's husband." "I thought you loved him." "So did I, but I was wrong. Even if Jed hadn't married Marsha I wouldn't want him now."

Julie and Paul departed in their new convertible for New Orleans, and Melanie joined the crowd who called good wishes and threw handfuls of rice as the car slowly wound its way down the drive of Fairhaven. And then, as she turned back toward the house, Melanie saw Jed Sutton. "I just got off the plane an hour ago in the city," Jed informed her. "I drove like a bat out of hades to get here. Melanie, I've got to talk to you. Isn't there somewhere we can go?" She looked at him without emotion. "In the library, Jed. Follow me." Behind closed doors they faced each other. "Did Dad tell you the good news?" "Not exactly. What is it?" He smiled confidently. "Marsha's getting a divorce. She's in Vegas. I've been out there, too, settling details."

Q—I am planning to redecorate my living room and buy some new things for it and would like some help. The only items that I am going to keep are a large green Early American planter lamp, a maple step table, maple coffee and end tables and a chair upholstered in a green tweed fabric. What colors would you suggest for the walls, a braided rug, draperies, sofa and another chair?

A—You might paint the walls of your living room terra cotta, get the braided rug in shades of brown, beige, green and orange, draperies with a provincial pattern on a yellow background, the sofa upholstered in rust and the chair in brown.

Q—I would like some color suggestions for my kitchen. The wall tile is pale yellow with black trim, the cabinets are birch in a blond finish and the counter tops are shrimp. What colors would be suitable for the upper walls and ceiling, floor covering, curtains and table and chairs?

A—For the upper walls and ceiling of your kitchen, forest green; for the floor covering, black with yellow feature strip; for the curtains, a pattern in black, green and yellow on a shrimp background; for the table and chairs, birch in a light finish to match the cabinets.

Q—Our master bedroom is fairly large and the furniture is in a black satin finish with gold trim. Could you give me color advice for the walls, draperies and bedspreads that would be a little different?

A—Lemon yellow walls would be a good background for the dark furniture in your bedroom. And, to be a little different, why not get draperies with an oriental design in gold on a black background and bedspreads in Mandarin red?

YOUR PROBLEMS

Clothing Has A Time And Place, Including Beaches

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to know all the answers. How about tackling this one:

Why is it when a man is found on the city streets, wandering around scantily clad, he is immediately arrested by a policeman and the next thing he knows, he's standing before a judge who slaps a big fat fine on him for "indecent exposure."

But—if a female appears on the beach with a few patches of fabric covering a small percentage of her body, she is whistled at and offered a movie contract, or a chance to be Queen of the Orange Grower's Association? Why the discrimination against the male, Ann? I'll bet this is one letter that'll never appear in the paper because you have no answer.—U.M.W.

Dear U.M.W.: You lose. Most scantily clad men who are picked up on the streets are mentally ill. I hardly think such an individual would qualify as Queen of the Orange Grower's Association. These unfortunate people are not slapped in jail if they are found to be ill. They are committed.

In our society certain wearing apparel may be acceptable under one set of circumstances and objectionable under another. Frequently the place determines whether or not the attire is proper. The girl who gets a movie offer on the beach might be arrested if she appeared in the public library in a bikini. Any more questions?

Dear Ann: I'm a middle-aged woman with two little girls, three and four years old. The father of my children is in prison and we are divorced.

In November of 1957 I started to go with a nice gentleman. He has been very good to me. My girls adore him and he's always treated them as if they were his own.

The other night he gave me some shocking news. He said he wants to marry me but I'd have to give my children away. He claims they may have inherited some of their father's bad traits and he'd always worry about it.

This man could be a grand husband, but I'm afraid I'd never forgive myself if I gave away my little girls. He says I'm entitled to some happiness and I shouldn't let my children spoil my chances. Please advise me.—B.T.

Of course you're entitled to some happiness but your children are entitled to something, too. Isn't it bad enough that the poor little things have a father in prison? Must they suffer a full circle of rejection merely because your friend is foolish enough to ask you to give them away as if they were rabbits?

Make it clear if he wants to marry you he'll have to accept the girls, too. At the same time, take the opportunity to educate him. Tell him criminals are made, not born. Mental deficiencies can be handed down to off spring and this can conceivably produce criminal behavior. However, the overwhelming majority of law-breakers are victims of their upbringing. Criminal tendencies are not transmitted in the genes.

Dear Ann: I'm not the least bit sensitive about my parents having been born in the old country. They are American citizens and have an appreciation for their adopted land which many native Americans lack. My parents know what it is to live in a country where there is no freedom.

I'm dating a girl whose parents are both sixth generation Americans. I think this is fine, but I can't understand how she can consider this a feather in her cap, since she had nothing to do with it. However, she frequently dwells on the subject and is skillful at wheeling any conversation around so she can work in this information. Would you say a few words about this in your column? She reads you every day.—Marty

A girl who brags about her ancestors admits that her family is better off dead than alive.

Activities Of Interest In Epps Community

Scout Meeting

The regular meeting of the Epps Girl Scouts was held in the school lunch room. Reports were heard from the various officers with twenty - seven members present and two guests, Mrs. Karl Cool and Mrs. Loyce Shows are the group sponsors.

Dinner

Mrs. Irma Parish honored her mother, Mrs. Mary Parish, with a birthday dinner in her home Sunday. Mrs. Parish is seventy-nine years young.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wicker and Patsy, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Davidson and family from Vicksburg, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Parish and family, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Kennedy of Clarks, Mr. Oscar Simmons and children of Angola, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. McCadish, Lula and Buford Bell, is usually sufficient. It is also recommended for killing food odors, Annie Kitchens, Mrs. O. P. Kitchens and children, J. T. Buddy, Mrs. Cleo Spoles, and Miss Imally.

Parish of Epps.
The Ruth Sunday School Class of the Epps Baptist Church honored Mrs. Bill Striebeck with a stork shower Friday in the fellowship hall. Several interesting games were played, after which refreshments were served to the thirty guests present.

Liquid Spray Helps To Kill Bad Odors

A room that is fresh and clean at the beginning of a party, can take on the air of a smoking car, after activities have started.

This state of affairs can be easily remedied by using the new room - deodorant sanitizers that are now on the market. Manufacturers have come out with two new delightful fragrances — spice or floral —which do wonders to replace stale air, with a delightful scent. Just spray in desired direction, pressing down on the valve. A four or five second spray is usually sufficient. It is also recommended for killing food odors, bathroom, sink, closet or pet odors, refreshing the air instantly.

The other night he gave me some shocking news. He said he wants to marry me but I'd have to give my children away. He claims they may have inherited some of their father's bad traits and he'd always worry about it.

This man could be a grand husband, but I'm afraid I'd never forgive myself if I gave away my little girls. He says I'm entitled to some happiness and I shouldn't let my children spoil my chances. Please advise me.—B.T.

Of course you're entitled to some happiness but your children are entitled to something, too. Isn't it bad enough that the poor little things have a father in prison? Must they suffer a full circle of rejection merely because your friend is foolish enough to ask you to give them away as if they were rabbits?

Make it clear if he wants to marry you he'll have to accept the girls, too. At the same time, take the opportunity to educate him. Tell him criminals are made—not born. Mental deficiencies can be handed down to off spring and this can conceivably produce criminal behavior. However, the overwhelming majority of law-breakers are victims of their upbringing. Criminal tendencies are not transmitted in the genes.

Dear Ann: I'm not the least bit sensitive about my parents having been born in the old country. They are American citizens and have an appreciation for their adopted land which many native Americans lack. My parents know what it is to live in a country where there is no freedom.

I'm dating a girl whose parents are both sixth generation Americans. I think this is fine, but I can't understand how she can consider this a feather in her cap, since she had nothing to do with it. However, she frequently dwells on the subject and is skillful at wheeling any conversation around so she can work in this information. Would you say a few words about this in your column? She reads you every day.—Marty

A room that is fresh and clean at the beginning of a party, can take on the air of a smoking car, after activities have started.

This state of affairs can be easily remedied by using the new room - deodorant sanitizers that are now on the market. Manufacturers have come out with two new delightful fragrances — spice or floral — which do wonders to replace stale air, with a delightful scent. Just spray in desired direction, pressing down on the valve. A four or five second spray is usually sufficient. It is also recommended for killing food odors, bathroom, sink, closet or pet odors, refreshing the air instantly.

More And More Women Study The Classifieds

Women job hunters may chuckle at the Sunday comics, but employment agency ads get their serious attention.

A survey of more than 200 women seeking a first position, or changing jobs, revealed that three out of four map out their search by consulting the classified sections in Sunday's paper.

The figures, compiled by Star Employment Service, Inc., also showed that about 80 per cent of the girls who do look through "Help Wanted" read all of the listings.

Monday's ads also got a good study as the white collar girl closed in on a job.

The poll gave the nation's largest female employment service a good insight into what women seek in their search for work.

Salary is still tops, but a company's location is more important to her than the firm itself, or what she will be doing if she is hired.

Many women prefer working as receptionists — with doctors' offices holding a special appeal.

Running a switchboard attracts a second large group, while a respectable percentage still is attracted to secretarial and typing jobs.

Ike, Dulles

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will pay an informal visit to Ottawa, Canada, on July 8-10.

Announcing plans for the visit Friday, the White House said the invitation was extended by Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker.

During the visit Eisenhower will address a joint session of the Canadian Parliament.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Not All Working Moms Neglect Community

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

In a previous column dealing with working mothers who did not always fulfill their obligations to the school, the church, the community, but left these for non-working mothers to complete, it was said that no blanket statement could cover either working or non-working mothers. They are individuals and act as such, regardless of their status.

Mrs. N.L.B. writes, "As for working in outside activities mothers do just what they want to do. If they want to work they will find the time, if not they will make their work an excuse not to. I have found there are just as many working as non-working mothers cooperating in Boy Scouts, Cubs, church, etc. You can no more judge working mothers as a whole, than you can doctors, lawyers, nurses, ministers, etc. Some are neglectful, others are not."

Mrs. R.P.K. writes, "I wish you would discuss leukemia in your column. I am sure many mothers would be interested."

I am so sorry but I feel this should be done by a doctor and this is not a medical column. But I shall be happy to send you a leaflet on "Preparing the Child for the Hospital." Just a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request will bring this to you.

Mrs. T.W.A., how nice it is to see my many words about breast feeding coming back to me from your own valuable experience. I agree with everything you state and may say I have said it dozens of times in this column. You are quite right that most mothers need more encouragement from their doctors and nurses. Maybe some day this happy situation will come about. Now there are some doctors who make a point of helping mothers to get started. There are others who are quite indifferent or actually hostile to the idea. But if mothers want to nurse I am sure they can get any help they really need.

Mrs. A.M., your long letter was a real encouragement to the mothers who have to face a heart operation for their children. The fact that your daughter came through so well and has gained and grown so magically since then, will hearten others who are in like situation. I am sorry I could not devote a column to this as the letter you read on the same subject was published so recently. But I do thank you for writing to me and I rejoice with you in your victory over this heart defect.

If you would like our leaflet "Prayers and Graces of Many Religions" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 88 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Old Hawaiian Style Adopted By Teen Set

A fashion that's been going strong for 100 years in Hawaii is going to the wardrobe of today's teen-agers. It's the muu-muu, a comfortable loosely gown, free of zippers, buttons and snaps. Just pull it over your head and wear it, wear it lounging around the house, wear it at your next record party.

For summer you'll be right in style if you make your muu-muu of some of the delightful floral prints in sun - kissed or rose arbor hues. Make it of any lightweight fabric, suitable to the conditions in which it will live. Make it of silk for summer evening parties, giving the chemise a run for its success. Make it of cotton for the beach or lounging.

How to make it? It's the one easy sewing project you could embark on, say the sewing center strategists. Use a commercial pattern, if you like. Or, if you are an old hand with the needle, try your hand at it without a pattern. Start by measuring from shoulder to bottom of hem, adding eight inches for a double hem. Multiply this measurement by three (one length for the front of the garment and two lengths for the back.) Add 3/4 yards for sleeves. One - half yard of contrasting fabric will be needed for yoke and cuffs.

Tall girls might like the classic puff sleeve, with an elastic strip inside the cuff - top to permit sleeve to be worn three - quarters or above elbow length, admitting a maximum of air circulation. Short girls may prefer to omit the sleeve entirely.

Cut down the center of the front fabric length on the straight of the goods. Front side seams are tapered outward from arm-hole to hem. The two lengths for the back are likewise tapered. The major segments of the muu-muu body resemble four pie - shaped pieces, with an off - size bite taken out at the yoke line, and with one edge of each on the straight of the material.

It's an easy project whether you are neophyte with pattern or girl wonder at the machine. And don't be surprised if your friends greet you with "Aloha," in recognition of your real Hawaiian look.

The gathering of the body of the muu-muu at the yoke line is easily done by setting the sewing machine for a long stitch which is easily gathered up. Arrange front fullness to fall freely over bust. Back gathers are distributed across center back.

Let your imagination run riot if you like when it comes to decorative stitches on the yoke. Try a bold domino pattern or satin stitch a graceful vine and leaves.

BUT WILL NOT BOIL

Antifreeze Is Not Permanent

DETROIT (AP) — So-called "permanent" antifreeze for auto radiators is permanent for one season only, it is "permanent" only in the sense that it will not boil away or evaporate. It should be drained from the car cooling system each spring.

This is the word of chemical engineers who have spent years trying to develop the most efficient antifreeze substance for car radiators. They tell you that one of every five of America's 60 million cars and trucks has a leaky radiator problem. Most of the trouble, they say comes from failure to drain antifreeze from the cooling system in the spring. One of the experts is Dr. Chester M. White, who heads the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.'s antifreeze research laboratory at Rochester, N.Y. Dr. White says that after one winter's use the corrosion inhibitor has a tendency to break down. This tendency, he says, increases with present higher horsepower engines and higher engine temperatures.

And the problem is not solved merely by adding more inhibitor to the antifreeze, he says. After a winter's use, the chemical structure of the antifreeze is altered by the development of various acids, including petroleum-base acids resulting from leakage of exhaust gases into the cooling system, Dr. White says.

You would need to match the proper inhibitor with the glycol remaining in the cooling system at the end of the driving season in order to get proper efficiency through the addition of inhibitors, he explains.

Dr. White says that car radiators generally now are much smaller than they were a few years ago. He reports one 1957 radiator has a volume of 475 cubic inches compared with an older type with 875 inches.

This means that today's antifreeze must do much more work. It is another reason, the experts say, why the motorist should drain and flush out his radiator each spring.

COMPACT SIGNED

Long-Sought River Route Near Reality

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — The long-sought river route between the Tennessee River and the Gulf of Mexico Friday moved a step closer to reality with the signing of the Tombigbee-Tennessee River compact. Governors J. P. Coleman of Mississippi and Jim Folsom of Alabama signed the document be-which once was the capitol of Mississippi.

The project to make the Tombigbee navigable, Coleman said, "has caught the imagination of the whole country."

Folsom told the audience "nothing could be of greater importance to all the people of Alabama than the linking of the Tombigbee and Tennessee rivers. The benefits which will come to Alabama and Mississippi from the Tombigbee-Tennessee canal will be greater than any of us can picture," he said.

In effect, Folsom said, "this creates a brand new government, bringing together Mississippi and Alabama."

The canal proposal was originated nearly a century ago. It

Wealthy Man Asks Charges Be Dismissed

MEMPHIS (AP) — Former multimillionaire L. V. Butler asked federal court Friday to dismiss charges that he used the mails would tie Alabama and eastern Mississippi into the nation's inland waterway system by a connection with the Tennessee River, providing barge transportation.

Alabama has appropriated $100,000 and Mississippi $80,000 to support the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority authorized under the compact, which the federal government turned down six times between 1874 and 1948. Army engineers are making a feasibility survey on the project.

to cheat two grain firms of more than 4 million dollars.

District Federal Judge Lester L. Cecil of Dayton, Ohio, imported to hear the case, gave Butler's attorney an additional week to gather more information to support his motion.

Butler, 45, pleaded innocent at the start of the arraignment, along with two of his one-time business associates, John J. Wilson Sr. of Mobile, Ala., and E. S. Morgan, also of Mobile.

Judge Cecil overruled motions to dismiss the mail fraud against Morgan. He granted Wilson's lawyer 15 days in which to file motions.

Butler's plea said District Federal Judge Marion Boyd of Memphis overstepped his constitutional authority in ordering the grand jury probe of Butler's affairs.

Judge Boyd, who recused himself from the trial, said he was forced to order the grand jury investigation because U. S. Dist. Atty. Millsaps Fitzhugh had refused to do so.

Fitzhugh made no rebuttal to defense arguments. He repeated his contention that it was not Justice Department policy to prosecute persons who already have served a state sentence for a crime arising from the same set of facts.

Butler pleaded guilty to obtaining money through false pretense in 1956 and served 18 months on a prison farm.

Butler was an amazingly successful commodities speculator until he tried to corner the soybean market in 1954-55 and took a multimillion dollar beating. In trying to recoup, he sold false warehouse receipts.

Three Suffer Minor Injuries In Ala. Wreck

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A Navy instructor and two German student pilots suffered minor injuries in the crash of a twin-engine training plane near Mobile Friday. The plane burned after crashing.

The three airmen rode the plane down after it developed engine trouble over Big Creek Lake, municipal reservoir about 18 miles west of downtown Mobile.

The SNB trainer smashed into a tree and the three men scrambled through the smashed windshield as the craft burst into flames.

The airmen were taken to a Mobile hospital and later transferred to the Brookley Air Force Base hospital.

They were identified at the civilian hospital as Lt. James Henry Bechtel, the instructor, and two German student pilots, Erick Mertens and Hellmut Scharck (phonetic), both of Stuttgart, Germany.

The plane was assigned to Barin Field, Ala., an auxiliary of the Pensacola (Fla.) Naval Air Station.

Wealthy Man Asks Charges Be Dismissed

MEMPHIS (AP) — Former multimillionaire L. V. Butler asked federal court Friday to dismiss charges that he used the mails to cheat two grain firms of more than 4 million dollars.

District Federal Judge Lester L. Cecil of Dayton, Ohio, imported to hear the case, gave Butler's attorney an additional week to gather more information to support his motion.

Butler, 45, pleaded innocent at the start of the arraignment, along with two of his one-time business associates, John J. Wilson Sr. of Mobile, Ala., and E. S. Morgan, also of Mobile.

Judge Cecil overruled motions to dismiss the mail fraud against Morgan. He granted Wilson's lawyer 15 days in which to file motions.

Butler's plea said District Federal Judge Marion Boyd of Memphis overstepped his constitutional authority in ordering the grand jury probe of Butler's affairs.

Judge Boyd, who recused himself from the trial, said he was forced to order the grand jury investigation because U. S. Dist. Atty. Millsaps Fitzhugh had refused to do so.

Fitzhugh made no rebuttal to defense arguments. He repeated his contention that it was not Justice Department policy to prosecute persons who already have served a state sentence for a crime arising from the same set of facts.

Butler pleaded guilty to obtaining money through false pretense in 1956 and served 18 months on a prison farm.

Butler was an amazingly successful commodities speculator until he tried to corner the soybean market in 1954-55 and took a multimillion dollar beating. In trying to recoup, he sold false warehouse receipts.

LOUISIANA LAWMAKER

Bills To Curb Sex Offenses Submitted

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—State Rep. Edward F. LeBreton Friday submitted to leading legal and medical authorities two proposed legislative bills aimed at curbing sex offenses.

LeBreton said he would ask opinions on his strict proposals, which he said particularly would protect juveniles from sex deviates.

A major feature of his proposals, the New Orleans lawmaker said, is a requirement that sex deviates register their names with local law enforcement authorities after conviction.

Persons convicted of sex crimes, he said, would have to register their names within 30 days after being released from prison or after paying a fine for the offense. He said this would give police a constant checklist on abnormal persons.

LeBreton said his proposals also set up a long procedure under which any person committing a criminal offense, whether a sex offense or not, can be examined by order of a judge to determine whether he is a sexual psychopath.

Under a mandatory provision, the judge would have to order an examination for any person convicted of a sex offense involving a child under 14.

French Claim 536 Rebels Put Out Of Action In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—French authorities claimed Friday 536 Algerian rebels were put out of action in a three-day battle near Souk-Ahras in eastern Algeria. It appears to have been the three-year-old rebellion's biggest military clash.

French air and ground units were mopping up the area, 35 miles west of the Tunisian border. French losses were not given but a Paris newspaper reported they were rather severe.

U.S. Bests 'Aggressor' In La. Games

FORT POLK, La. (AP) — The United States forces Thursday night got the best of a simulated exchange of atomic strikes with aggressor forces in Exercise Strong Arm.

The Combat Command A, First Armored Division, the main United States Army force in the war games in southwestern Louisiana, spent the night preparing an attack, which it launched about dawn.

The Aggressor, meanwhile, prepared to defend positions to the rear of its earlier battle position. The aggressor committed all of its reserves in the battle for Pearson Ridge.

Thursday night's U.S. atomic warhead was delivered by a Corporal missile. It destroyed aggressor atomic artillery between Many and Natchitoches. The aggressor's strike was about 2,000 yards off its target, a U.S. TASK FORCE, AND THE U. S. forces were well protected.

Small aggressor units and guerrillas continued harassing U.S. supply lines and forcing friendly units to use aircraft.

Helicopters delivered nearly 2,000 gallons of gasoline and heavy parachute drops totaling about 100 tons of supplies were scheduled for today and tomorrow. Six C-119s of the 9th U.S. Air Force Tactical Air Command will supply four missions to deliver supplies.

Fear Higher Import Duties On La. Rice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Congress members from Louisiana expressed concern today that agitation in Cuba might result in higher import duties there on Louisiana rice.

Sens. Ellender and Long, and Rep. T. A. Thompson, Democrats, said they had written Nicolas Arroyo, ambassador of Cuba, about the situation. They also sent copies of their letter to the state and agriculture departments.

They said Cuba traditionally has looked to the United States, and especially to Louisiana, to supply such rice as it needs above what Cuba produces. They added that Cuba's government has called a hearing to receive opinions from Cubans about rice imports.

The State Department said that under the general agreement on tariffs and trade the United States has received concessions on rice exports to Cuba. It added that under the agreement, neither country could change rates without negotiations with the other.

Cuba some time ago indicated it planned to submit a list of products for renegotiation of tariffs, unimplied rice among them. The state department said today the list has not been received.

Cuba is the best regular customer for U. S. rice exports. In some years, emergency, or giveaway shipments to Far Eastern countries have exceeded those to Cuba, but Cuba pays for its rice in dollars.

Ellender's office said Louisiana rice interests were concerned that a change in present duties might induce Cubans to import poor quality rice from Asia as a substitute for Louisiana rice.

Beautiful Sight Really A Signal

NEW YORK (AP) — The beautiful Chinese woman strolling along the sidewalk with a bulldog provided an interesting sight.

But it was a much more interesting sight to some people than others. It was, police said today, a signal to narcotics buyers that a new supply of dope was on hand.

Thursday night officers swooped down on a Chinatown gift shop operated by the woman and her husband.

There on a shelf with other store items, in an oversize tea can draped with jade beading to make it look just like another gift, police said they found heroin worth 1½ million dollars on the illicit market.

Officers took into custody Yuhung Ting, 35, and his wife, 24. They said the couple were married in Hong Kong in 1957 while Ting was a seaman.

The wife is such a beauty, police said, that she had a screen test in Hollywood before the couple opened their gift shop about a year ago.

DENISON (AP) — A bridge on Highway 75-A below Texoma Dam washed away in flood waters Friday, the second time in 13 months.

In April of 1957 the bridge over Shawnee Creek was pushed downstream about 60 feet. The heavy concrete structure remained intact, however, and the highway was routed to the bridge's new location.
